Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

This is the day they give valentines away.

This is the day that "roses are red, violets are blue, and the old grouch says, what's it to you," and other such drivel, rhythmically lullabyed into the swing, or formed to convey an expression of undying love and affection.

Valentines with the heat enclosed in the envelope, which cooled soon as the overcoat was taken off. Valentines with a little lace on 'em, and others plain as a tailored suit.

If I had thought of it in time I would have asked Ed. Durling to poet-ize this column, but Ed. is attending to his own business, which I am not, sometimes. However, it is the time and place for the sentimental.

* * *

St. Valentine's day is so-called for a Christian martyr of the Roman period. Some of us think we have been martyr-ized since that day, especially when we receive a valentine intended to take the hide off, and tip us from the ego pedestal.

Or when an insinuating verse comes through inquiring about "who" and intimating the "when." You know—those kind containing just enough of a half-truth which makes the whole truth look like it needed a new garment.

* * *

But isn't it a great and glorious feeling when you do get a valentine from a friend, or some one a little closer, breathing a real sincere appreciation, and hoping that time and fortune will deal you a good hand for many years to come.

You know I've always thought when an expression of devotion went through the two-cent delivery department from a guy who didn't even know the meaning of the word stability, telling some unsophisticated maiden that she was the only girl he loved out of fifty million, that he was either goofy or lying.

* * *

But on Valentine day you can get away with a lot of mush that spoils within the following twenty-four hours. The safest way to send such imploring declarations of love is to leave off your signature.

It is said that the custom of exchanging missives and tokens of love and affection was handed down from the Roman festival of the Lupercalia, at which time the names of young women were placed in a box and drawn out by the young men as chance directed. From this flirtation a matrimonial journey might eventuate.

* * *

Reminds me something of the story about the fellow who did his courting by lantern light. "Yes," remarked his iconoclastic friend, "and look what you got."

* * *

Having passed the border line of danger I browsed through the Bob Brown and Ivie Stein valentine emporiums just to refresh my memory and to check against those days of long ago when more of the comic than the sentimental prevailed. Valentines are much nicer now. I think the people are nicer now—about valentines. Anyway, the clerks tell me the buying power is now on the side of the sentimental and affectionate.

* * *

Mother, sweetheart, darling, and other endearments get the best hand, with father trailing like a slow horse on a muddy track.

Ho, hum, I wouldn't write about Valentine day if the city hall, courthouse, banks, and other sources of news had been available Saturday. You see most of my rendezvous turned the key on me so I was like the prodigal son, wandering aimlessly about without any concern on the part of the shepherd. That's why my attention turned to valentines.

* * *

Another influence which helped was the information somewhat timidly volunteered, from the granddaughter, like this: "Granddad, did you know this is valentine day?" Now what would you do in a case like that?

* * *

If you have a sense of humor you don't have to wait until February 14th for valentines. I see 'em almost every day. Maybe I look that way, too, but there are comics in motion every day of the

CHINESE DEFEND LAST WAR LINES

Thousands Die in War's Greatest Fight

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Japan's Rising Sun warriors, following the trail blazed by the Mongol hordes of Genghis Khan 700 years ago, fought one of the world's greatest battles today in the conquest of Central China. The same battlefield in Honan province where the great Khan's horsemen struck terror into the heart of Asia reverberated with the din of modern conflict as the Japanese invaders drove desperately fighting Chinese troops southward toward the Lunghai railway.

The Japanese already have captured the lower stretches of the Yellow river and have reached the middle section of that great waterway, the division of North and South China.

Swift drives southward put the Mikado's armies astraddle the Pinghan and Taming highway. They seriously threaten Kaifeng, present capital of Honan province and ancient seat of the Sung

20 KILLED AS FERRY SINKS

SYDNEY, Australia. (AP)—Eight passengers were known today to have drowned and 12 were missing — probably dead — after the ferryboat Rodney capsized and sank in Sydney harbor.

The accident occurred yesterday when many of the 150 passengers aboard the ferryboat, rushing to the rail to see the United States cruiser Louisville sail, caused it to list and go down in 70 feet of water.

The bodies of three women and a boy trapped in a cabin were among those recovered.

Divers located the ferryboat and it was raised to the surface with a huge crane.

Free Toy Loan Library Opens Here Tomorrow

Scores of youngsters' faces will brighten today when they learn a free toy loan library opens tomorrow in Santa Ana at 1448 S. Main street under the sponsorship of the National Youth administration.

"Any youngster may borrow toys from the library," according to Robert H. Northcross, supervisor in charge of the loanage system. "Their families don't have to be on relief."

Beginning tomorrow the doors will be open from 2 to 4 each afternoon excepting Sundays.

Sheriff Hunts For Cock-Fights

Sheriff Logan Jackson's men were still scouring Orange county for cock-fights today, as officers of nearby counties renewed their drive against illegal fighting of game chickens.

Cock-fighting and dog-fighting for gambling purposes have been vigorously protested against by the California Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals as "barborous pastimes," and Kate Wakeling, secretary of the society, said her organization had several reports of dog-fighting for stakes.

Death Rate of Horses Shocks Census Bureau

WASHINGTON. (AP) — The work horse and the mule, outmoded by the tractor and automobile, are dying out, the census bureau said today.

The last agricultural census taken in 1935 showed the birth rate of colts was only half as much as needed to replace dying animals.

Experts said seven colts should be born per year per 100 animals to keep the horse and mule population from declining, but the national average has been only 3.6 new colts.

Last Stand

TOWNSEND TO FORM PARTY

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, pension-political Mahomet, marched straight up to his mountain today, accompanied by hundreds of Orange county pensionites.

Dr. Townsend announced the immediate formation of a new political party, sole purpose of which will be enactment of old age pension laws.

Failure of old line political representatives to furnish support for the Townsend plan was responsible for the step, Townsend said in addressing a mass meeting in Long Beach Saturday night.

Orange county representatives of the movement today were making plans for distribution of petitions here in an effort to enroll the 280,000 signers necessary before the party can receive a state charter.

COUNTY RELIEF LOAD DROPS

Whereas 2300 Orange county residents were on direct relief one year ago, the load has dropped to 1500 at the present, according to Mrs. Katherine Handley, administrator of the county SRA.

Favorable weather conditions this year have assisted in lessening the relief demand this year, Mrs. Handley believes. It will be remembered the severe frost twelve months ago threw many agricultural workers out of employment.

Love Is Blind But P. O. Isn't— Check Valentines

To my valentine with postage collect!

If you sent a valentine through the mail under third-class postage and there was a personal communication included, you can now start framing an alibi to the girl or boy friend. The recipient of your valentine paid for extra postage.

Love may be blind, but the post-office isn't. And personal notes by mail must travel under first class rates.

Don't worry too much over this error, however, for there are several hundred persons in Santa Ana today who made the same mistake.

Man Injured, Yacht Damaged As Gas Blasts Hit Balboa

One man was injured and a palatial yacht danaged in a series of freakish gasoline explosions at the Balboa Yacht basin yesterday afternoon.

E. R. Hall, 56, of Downey, skipper of the 45-foot yacht Florencia, suffered second-degree burns in his face and hands when gasoline spilled into the bilge of the craft exploded. Two other men, Tom Currie, 30, of Balboa island and R. B. Young, skipper of the yacht Zoa III, anchored alongside the Florencia were treated for fumes from fire extinguishers and smoke by members of the Newport fire department.

The gasoline first exploded when fumes reached an electric heater in the forward part of the yacht, Fire Chief Frank Crocker reported. Hall and Currie had been dipping spilled gasoline from the bilge when the explosion occurred, he said.

Automatic fire extinguishers and hand apparatus put out the blaze, which was reported shortly after noon.

The second blast came at 4 p. m., when Capt. Hall, in pouring fresh water over the motor of the craft, touched a starter rod, which created a spark and set off a series of explosions. That Capt. Hall was not more seriously burned was due to all entrances of the yacht being open, it was reported.

The Florencia is owned by J. H. Sattler of 320 Paramount boulevard, Downey, and is a 45-foot trunk cabin cruiser.

Snowdrifts Balk Removal of Avalanche Dead

JUNE LAKE. (AP)—Snowdrifts 65 feet high confronted an undertaker's party today as it attempted to remove the bodies of two avalanche victims from the tiny mountain resort.

Charles H. Clark, 45, Pasadena school teacher, and Edward Walter, 63, of Houghton, Mich., were killed last Friday when tons of earth, rocks and uprooted trees crashed down on seven cabins.

C. Lewis Edwards, of a Pasadena mortuary, planned to take the bodies out on sleds to June Lake junction, several miles distant, where snow plows had partly cleared the road.

INTEREST AROUSED

Carl Zimmerman of Anaheim drove to Santa Ana yesterday in his two and one-half horespower automobile which was made in this county.

FAMILY FEUD DEVELOPS IN RANCH SUIT

Brothers-in-Law Battle Over Orange Grove

Charges of trickery were hurled today in superior court as two brothers-in-law carried on their fight over title to a $25,900 Anaheim orange grove.

Sidney O. Pellew, defendant in a quiet title suit brought by his brother-in-law, Frank W. Mefford, claims Mefford had the deed to the ranch recorded in his name and refused to transfer it.

Mefford is a brother of the late Mrs. Pellew, who with her husband assertedly bought the ranch in May, 1936, from Clara B. Harris Young, paying $12,000 cash and giving a $13,000 trust deed.

Pellew, who has had possession of the property, claims Mefford had "no intention" of keeping his promise to will the property to the Pellews. His charge was made in an answer on file in the case, which is being tried by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel.

CITY SEEKS TO WRECK PIER

Delayed in its suit for condemnation of a rickety old pier, the city of Seal Beach today had another week in which to file an amended complaint for abatement of the structure as a nuisance.

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel sustained a demurrer to the suit on the part of the Bayside Land company and the Security-First National bank of Los Angeles, defendants in the suit, on grounds the complaint was uncertain. He allowed 10 days to amend.

B. P. O. E. Birthday Fete Wednesday

In commemoration of the seventieth anniversary of the establishment of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Lodge No. 794 of Santa Ana will initiate a class of 30 candidates into the local chapter Wednesday night.

First Elks lodge to be established was in New York city, Feb. 16, 1868, seventy years ago next Wednesday. The initiation to be conducted locally will be under the direction of Harold R. Brown, exalted ruler of the Santa Ana lodge, and his assistants.

Charles Spencer Hart, Grand Exalted Ruler of all Elks lodges, issued a proclamation ordering subordinate organizations throughout the United States to plan simultaneous celebrations in honor of the occasion.

Hart points out in his proclamation that during the 70 years of its existence the order "has exemplified the true spirit of charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity . . . That patriotism is the first in our hearts as loyal Elks and Americans . . . and we wish to perpetuate the high ideals of our fraternal activities"

WHIMSIES

DAY BY DAY

With O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK.—A fine hawdy-do. On the day I'm invited to a spiffy dinner I wake up with a puffed eye. Everybody will, of course, believe that I haven't the slightest idea where I got it. Like fun, they will! By evening it will likely suggest a Neapolitan sunset.

In fact, there is no explanation a guy can make about a moused eye that won't cause them to titter behind their fans. Imagine how the real truth would sound! Such as this: "All I know is that I was in bed early, slept well and when I awakened there it was!"

They'd go into hysterics with that. The thing to do is dude it up with a few fancy trimmings. How would this go. "My man Parkinson looked in several times on me during the night and saw nothing untoward." I love that "untoward." I'll run through that again.

That might get over if I'd say it and let it lay. But no, when I explain anything that's a bit phoney I have to go on and on and wind up with a trilly little laugh. Like a high school girl with her first beau. I can't bark it out in a take it or leave it manner. I have to sneak in a trill.

I wonder where I picked up trilling. Not from my folk. They spoke out at meeting and you could like it or lump it. But I

DEATH CALLS M'INTYRE

NEW YORK. (AP) — Oscar Odd McIntyre, newspaper columnist to whom millions of Americans looked for their impressions of New York City, died today in his Park avenue apartment.

One of the most famous newspapermen of the nation, he came to New York from a small Ohio town, and always boasted he never lost the naive curiosity of the "home town boy." For a quarter of a century his daily column, "New York Day By Day," gained increasing fame, and in recent years was published in almost 500 newspapers.

McIntyre, who would have been 54 Friday, died at 2 o'clock this morning. Cause of death was not

County's First Spanish Paper Off of Press

The fourth estate had a new member today—the first Spanish newspaper in Orange county.

The new paper, called "La Prensa," will be published every Friday by Gabino Gonzales, cousin of Sol Gonzales, prominent Santa Ana merchant.

Its publisher came here from Madrid, from where he was driven by the civil war. Prior to coming to this county, Gonzales published one of Madrid's largest newspapers. His plant was destroyed by bombs.

La Prensa is published entirely in Spanish, but is modern and American in style. The first issue, just out, contains four pages of news articles, Hollywood features, local items and advertisements.

GIESLER IN WRIGHT TRIAL SURPRISE

State Must Prove Case In Insanity Hearing

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — A tactical move on the part of the defense today in Paul A. Wright's insanity trial threw the burden of proof on the prosecution.

Wright, convicted Saturday on two counts of manslaughter for the slayings of Mrs. Wright and John Kimmel, now is being tried on his plea of innocent by reason of insanity.

As soon as the trial opened, before the same jury, Wright's counsel, Jerry Giesler, offered in evidence the transcript and exhibits of the former trial.

Prosecutor S. E. Roll, upon accepting both, announced that the state would rest, an action he had

MRS. FDR URGES LARGER NAVY

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, lecturer and writer on peace, said today the United States apparently needs to build better naval and air forces for an adequate self defense.

Asked at her press conference if her statement meant she favored the pending naval expansion bill, she said she was not familiar enough with the details to comment on that.

"It is unfortunate," Mrs. Roosevelt said, "but we still live in a world where force is the only voice which carries any weight to a great many people."

The first lady said she would love to see the time arrive when "we can get enough people together—that would have to be all of the strong nations of the world—to begin to disarm."

POINT LOST IN SLANDER SUIT

C. E. Boyden, awaiting trial on slander charges, today had lost the first round of his $100,000 damage suit against a former partner who had him arrested.

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel sustained a demurrer of G. W. Bowles, defendant, to Boyden's first cause of action and allowed him 10 days to amend his complaint for damages and an injunction against using advertising material Boyden claims he owns.

A defense motion for dismissal was granted on Boyden's second complaint, which asked $50,000 damages for Boyden's arrest on the slander charge after assertedly calling Bowles a "deadbeat."

P. G. and E. Loses Utility Lawsuit

WASHINGTON. (AP) — The Pacific Gas and Electric company failed in the supreme court today in an effort to enjoin the sale of $22,000,000 of bonds by the Sacramento Municipal Utility district for construction of a competing power system.

The tribunal refused to review decisions by the Northern California federal district court and the ninth circuit court of appeals dismissing the litigation.

The company contended that it already served the 650-square-mile district and that it should not be required to pay a proposed tax for construction of the new system.

LAN FRANCO APPARENTLY SUICIDE

Body Found by Wife in Bathroom

Painful injuries sustained in an accident while he was working for the county road department early last month were blamed today for the apparent suicidal shooting of Gustave Lan Franco, 53, El Modena.

Native of Orange county and member of a prominent Spanish family, Mr. Lan Franco reportedly shot himself through the heart with a 12-gauge shotgun at 4:30 a. m. today.

Still suffering from the back injury he received early in January, he had been unable to sleep, his widow, Mrs. Olympia Lan Franco told officers today.

She was awakened when he went into the bathroom, she said, and she went to investigate when he failed to return.

His body was lying on the floor, and the gun had fallen into the bath-tub. He apparently had muffled the shot by pressing the barrel against his chest.

Besides a widow, Mr. Lan Franco is survived by two sons, Robert and Marsden, and two daughters, Gussie and Georgette. He was born in Tustin in 1885 and had lived in the county ever since, working for the road department for many years.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Shannon funeral parlor in Orange, but there will be no inquest.

TEACHER IN CRASH SUIT

E. R. Forbes, Orange High school teacher, was being sued today for $50,000 as the result of a car-motorcycle accident in which Olen Neal of Anaheim lost a leg.

The accident occurred last Sept. 2 at East Center street and Placentia avenue when Neil's motorcycle collided with the Forbes car.

Neal claims Forbes was cutting a corner, and Forbes claims the plaintiff's motorcycle roared through a boulevard stop, apparently out of control, before the crash.

Russell Pray of Long Beach and Thomas McFadden of Anaheim represent Neal, and Stanley Reinhaus and Clarence Sprague of Santa Ana are defending the teacher.

FRIANT DAM PROBE OPENS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Reclamation bureau officials began today a study of a special report on a five-month investigation into a water right purchase problem blocking construction of the $14,000,000 Friant dam near Fresno. The dam is one of the main units of the $170,000,000 Central Valley irrigation project in California.

W. J. Irving, Riverside, Calif., attorney who made the investigation, came here to review his report with Reclamation Commissioner John C. Page and E. B. Debler, chief engineer of the Denver reclamation bureau office.

Woman Leaves $12,000 Estate

Mrs. Anna M. Lowry of Santa Ana, who died last Wednesday, left an estate worth $12,000, according to a petition for letters of administration filed today in superior court.

Petitioner is her son and sole heir, Ralph W. Lowry of Hawthorne, according to the papers he filed. The estate, he said, consists of a $2500 business building in Orange and notes and mortgages worth approximately $9000.

Forerunner of Third Storm in Week Hits Santa Ana

Rain began falling in Santa Ana this morning, believed the forerunner of the third storm in a week to hit Southern California.

Weather forecasters dubbed it a "secondary storm that developed over Nevada."

NORTH DUE FOR MORE RAIN, SNOW, WINDS

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP) — The Pacific coast, wearied by a prolonged siege of rain, snow and high winds that has caused nearly a score of deaths, disrupted communications, halted rail and highway traffic and harassed shipping, looked forward today to—more rain, snow and high wind.

In northern California, where the storm entered its 19th consecutive day today, floods which had already inundated several lowlying areas threatened to spread.

From Bridgeport, in eastern California (Mono county) came a report of the latest known victim of the storm. Tony Sparcevich, a miner, was crushed to death yesterday in an avalanche that sent tons of snow and rocks crashing down on the Silverado mine in the Sierra Nevada.

Heavy rains along the upper Sacramento river heightened apprehension in the Colusa-Sacramento area, where levees were weakened.

A total of 60,000 acres of farm lands was covered by flood waters in Stanislaus county. The danger points were at the junction of the Stanislaus and the San Joaquin river, and in the San Joaquin and Sacramento delta region.

The flood, 15 miles long and five miles wide, spread to within five miles of Manteca, Stanislaus county town directly south of Stockton. There was a possibility that the Stanislaus levee above Manteca might break and flood the town.

MICHIGAN FLOODS CONTINUE DAMAGE

DETROIT. (AP) — New Michigan floods over the week-end drove hundreds of families from their dwellings, blocked highways and caused damage far more serious than last week's inundations.

The property loss at Mt. Clemens alone was more than $100,000, Mayor Donald R. Westendorf said. The Clinton river at that point went on the worst rampage in 35 years, inundating more than 700 acres.

Grand Rapids, Lansing, Flint, Pontiac, Utica, Rochester and Ionia were suffering from overflowing streams but their conditions were not to be compared with those prevailing at Mt. Clemens where approximately 400 houses were surrounded by water and refugee stations had to be set up.

Saint Starts Something!

St. Valentine didn't realize what he was starting by dying on February 14. He never anticipated, for instance, that today's Journal would react terrifically to the occasion and bust out with something never seen before in these here parts. You and the old gntlman who started Valentine's day have something different in newspaper valentines in store for you on the first page of Section 2.

POWERFUL NAVY UNITS PREPARED

Entire Pacific to Be Area for Maneuvers

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The United States fleet—173 ships and 547 airplanes—is making ready for six weeks of grim war games.

Four weeks from today the most powerful fighting machine America ever sent to sea moves into the trackless Pacific. It goes out under a new commander-in-chief, Admiral Claude Charles Bloch.

This far-seeing, keen-eyed Kentuckian when he took command two weeks ago told his officers and men "our only justification for being is to be ready to fight."

In dispatching his forces over America's western sea frontiers, from the Aleutian islands down through Hawaii and into Equatorial waters, the admiral will watch every move to see whether each unit is in the condition of readiness to fulfill the duty he has imposed upon them to make the navy second to none.

Admiral Bloch's flagship, the battleship Pennsylvania, is in San Francisco bay this week for drydocking so that all will be set to go into the war games March 14.

There are 12 battleships, 4 aircraft carriers, 16 heavy cruisers, 4 light cruisers, 55 destroyers, 27 submarines and more than two score auxiliaries in the armada of the United States fleet.

Problem XIX as this year's war games is termed, finds the security forces of the fleet sharply realigned by the newest sky weapons, the long range air cruisers, winged storehouses of explosives, as these patrol squadrons have been termed.

During the past year the Aleutian islands, that one-time land bridge to Asia, the westerly finger of which, Attu island, carries the western boundary of the United States to within a few hundred miles of Asia, has come in for considerable naval attention.

It is expected this area will be one of the important sections in the theater of operations of the war games.

JAPAN MAY REVEAL NAVY PLANS, REPORT

TOKYO. (AP)—The Japanese foreign office spokesman intimated today that Japan might be willing to provide naval construction information if the request was made unofficially.

Expressing his personal opinion, the spokesman said "it would be better if the powers would approach Japan unofficially." If they did so, he added, it was possible "they might have better success with Japan."

Saturday Japan refused to tell the United States, Great Britain and France her naval building plans.

FISH URGES NAVAL PARTY FOR JAPAN

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Representative Fish (R., N. Y.) suggested to the house naval committee today another disarmament conference should be called and Japan granted naval parity with the United States.

Naval experts, he said, have stated Japan could not attack this country successfully even with a navy as large as the American fleet.

"Why can't we give Japan equality," he asked, "unless we intend to do what I think we are trying to do, and that is police and quarantine the world."

Under the new defunct London naval treaty the naval strength of Great Britain, the United States and Japan was fixed on a 5-5-3 basis.

Valentine customers are somewhat shy. Men more so. They furtively look about to see if they are being observed. They have the love-sick complex. Want the air of mystery to conceal their purchase. I feel safer with the mystery type. I know reasonably well they are picking out a "razz."

Oh, well, we have days and daze. Some saint left us a custom which in his time was surrounded with a pure and undefiled purpose. Modernity has a habit of corrupting much of the sacred. But there is always a remnant of civilization which holds faithfully to the original, and extracts joy and spreads glad tidings out of historical customs which meant more in their day than they do to the present race which is too busy riding, and too indolent in its thinking.

MULE'S GHOST HAUNTS DRIVER

The mule is dead, but his ghost lingers around, Sollows intimated today during trial of his $1900 accident injury suit against Harry Boyd, owner of the deceased animal.

Since he hit the mule "right amidship," he testified in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court today, "I'm bothered when I drive at night . . . I see animals, people and dogs in the road . . . when there isn't anything there."

Sollows' car struck the mule on 101 highway south of Irvine Nov. 1, 1936. He asks $950 damages and his wife, Lillian, is suing for $1000. They are represented by William L. Waters, and Boyd is represented by Warren Schutz and Lew Blodget.

Brothers' Estates Being Settled

Matthew and Joseph Nevenheim, who died within four days of each other, left estates worth more than $10,000 and $5000, respectively, according to petitions for letters of administration filed today in superior court.

Gladys E. Peterson of Santa Ana, niece of the brothers, filed the petitions. Matthew, she said, died yesterday, and his brother died Feb. 9.

Heirs of both include two other brothers, John Nevenheim of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Arnold Nevenheim of Rochester, Minn.; five nieces, the petitioner and Sadie Allen of Santa Ana; Kathrin Sour of Watertown, S. D., Catharine Webber of St. Paul, Minn., and Marie Rossbo of Riverside, and a nephew, William Nevenheim of Canby, Minn.

WRIGHT TRIAL GETS SURPRISE

previously forecast, but he reserved the right to call witnesses in rebuttal.

Then Giesler sprang his surprise. "The defense also rests," he said.

That move forced Roll to start his rebuttal and means that the state must attemp to convince the jury that Wright was sane when he shot and killed his wife and friend.

The prosecution's first witness was a court-appointed alientist, Dr. M. J. Rowe, who said he examined Wright twice—last December and again yesterday. He testified that, in his opinion, Wright was sane both times.

REVIEWS TRAGEDY

After briefly reviewing the shooting scene in the Wright home last Nov. 9, Prosecutor J. Miller Leavy asked Dr. Rowe what he believed Wright's mental condition was at that time.

"Sane," answered Dr. Rowe.

"Do you think that Wright knew the difference between right and wrong?" was the next question.

Mrs. Ruth Birkelund, a juror who told the court Saturday she was too ill to continue the case, had recovered sufficiently today to continue.

Wright collapsed after his conviction Saturday and spent the week-end in the county jail hospital, but he was in court today, still worn and haggard in appearance.

BLONDE DENIES DEATH CHARGE

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—Mary K. O'Connor, 19-year-old husky blonde, today firmly denied all charges that she caused the death of five-year-old Nancy Glenn last Labor Day.

She pleaded innocent to charges of murder, manslaughter and involuntary manslaughter before Judge Joseph Sloan.

Her attorney, William A. Gray, indicated her defense would be "unique" in the face of statements introduced at hearings that the young physical education student struck down the child in anger over her teasing and left her for dead, face down in a mud puddle.

Ancient Egg Is African Lie Detector

LOME, Gold Coast. — The original scientific lie detector, used for centuries by African juju men, has just been investigated and approved by scientists from the British museum. The African lie detector is a very rotten egg.

It works this way: Something in the tribe is stolen. The men of the tribe gather in a circle around the juju man. He tells them that he already knows the name of the thief, and that if he will return the stolen goods he will be punish only lightly. If not, the witch doctor will kill him with juju magic.

After this has been impressed on the crowd, the juju man produces a very delicate and ancient egg. He tells the natives to pass it from hand to hand. "It will break in the hands of the thief," he says. Sure enough it does, and the thief usually breaks down and confesses!

U. S. ATTENDS SINGAPORE NAVY RITES

SINGAPORE. (AP)—The British Empire's most formidable naval base—a Gibraltar of the Far East—was formally opened today with an American cruiser squadron attending the ceremonies.

Thousands of carefully checked guests cheered as Sir Shenton Thomas, governor of the Straits Settlements and personal representative of King George VI, dedicated the huge $55,000,000 drydock, pride of the Singapore stronghold.

Rear Admiral Julius Townsend, commanding the battle cruisers Trenton, Memphis and Milwaukee, represented the United States — the only world power invited to be present for the occasion.

The actual dedication was carried out by Sir Thomas, aboard a government yacht, sailing through the dock entrance and breaking a 130-foot ribbon. Two British destroyers escorted the yacht.

The drydock is the largest ever built. It can accommodate warships up to 55,000 tons. For the first time in history Great Britain is able to service warships in drydock east of the Suez canal.

CHINA DEFENDS WAR LINES

dynasty eight centuries ago. The Mings reigned there from 1368 to 1644.

The Japanese advance guard was reported on the north bank of the Yellow river after having shattered resistance of 15,000 Chinese troops and forced them to withdraw across the wide waters.

A bitter struggle was in prospect, as the Japanese must cross the river under fire. Bridges were blown up in the withdrawal of Chinese.

The Japanese army driving on Kaifeng, across the Yellow river, was one of the five field forces pushing southward toward the Lunghai line, vital communication artery through the rich Central China agricultural region.

TREE ARMIES

From the south, three Japanese armies were advancing from the Hwai river.

General Chiang Kai-Shek has 400,000 troops along the north and south fronts fighting to prevent the Japanese gobbling up the huge Lunghai "corridor."

Japanese armies advancing from the Hwai reported new gains. The column moving north from Pengpu along the Tientsin-Pukow railway, which intersects the Lunghai at strategic Suchow, was said to have occupied Hsinmachiano. The Japanese were gathering on the south bank of the Kwei river outside Kuchen, 25 miles north of Pengpu.

BLOW UP BRIDGE

The Chinese blew up a bridge across the Kwei, forcing the Japanese to resort to costly boat crossings.

It was announced officially that Japanese victories on the Pinghan front cost the Chinese 2000 men killed. In the Hwai river sector, 1500 Chinese were said to have been captured.

The Japanese reported their losses as small, but advices from Chinese headquarters at Hankow said the Chinese were inflicting many casualties.

M'INTYRE DIES SUDDENLY

known immediately, but his health had not been good for some time.

LIVED ALONE

McIntyre's friendships ran through all classes and types of people — Broadway's great, the big city's ordinary people, each alike claimed his attention.

He lived much alone in recent years, doing his work in his richly furnished apartment, aided in great measure by his wife, the former Maybelle Hope Small, of Gallipolis, Ohio.

Friday also would have been his 30th wedding anniversary.

COLUMN APPEARS

He never faltered at his daily stint, although he frequently complained it was the most soul-trying task in the world. His regular column, written in the Samuel Pepys manner he sometimes assumed, appeared this morning.

Although McIntyre typified the "typical New Yorker" to his legions of readers, he never pretended to the veneer of New York sophistication. He took pride, rather, in being a "small town boy" who was forever fascinated by the passing scene of the "big city."

DRUM BEATING BANNED

TOKYO. — Modern law has dealt Japanese religion a setback here. Religious drum-beating is a legal offense, punishable by fine or imprisonment, according to an announcement by the public peace division of the metropolitan police board.

RAY EDGAR FUNERAL RITES SET

Funeral services for Ray Edgar, member of the state board of equalization, will be held at Greenwood cemetery, San Diego, tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. Edgar, who was a resident of Dana Point, died Saturday night while playing golf.

He was appointed to the board by Gov. Merriam to succeed Orpha Shontz when she resigned. His district included board of equalization offices of the following counties: Orange, San Diego, Imperial, Riverside, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, Ventura and Santa Barbara. Edgar was well-known among officers of the Orange county headquarters, having called here on a number of occasions.

Edgar for a number of years was engaged in the sale of implements, farm equipment and automobiles at Imperial valley where he was well-known. At one time he was inheritance tax collector in that region.

Other members of the board inclue John Corbett, head of district one. Corbett lives in San Francisco. District two is under the supervision of Fred E. Stewart, who resides in Oakland. R. E. Collins, chairman of the board, is in charge of district three and lives at Redding. Edgar was head of district four. A fifth member of the board is Comptroller H. B. Riley, who holds an ex-officio position.

MERRIAM PLANS VICE POLICY

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Gov. Frank Merriam said he would make a statement on Los Angeles vice conditions before leaving for Sacramento tonight.

The governor said he would "spend several hours on this vice and corruption matter" today.

"I cannot say," he added, "at this time to just what extent my investigation will reach. I have spent a large part of the past two days secretly accumulating the facts, and expect to complete this work before I leave for Sacramento tonight. I will make a statement before I leave."

M'ADOO WARNS ON CROP BILL

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Senator McAdoo (D., Calif.) describing the administration's crop control bill as "revolutionary," said today its enforcement would create "such a hubbub" that the legislation would be repealed at the next congress session.

McAdoo spoke as opponents of the vast proposal to put production and marketing controls on five major crops carried on an eleventh hour attack before the vote on the measure, set by agreement for 3:30 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time).

"It is a fundamentally wrong agricultural economy, in my opinion," McAdoo said.

He read from a section of the act which would permit the secretary of agriculture to identify farm products that could move in commercial channels free from penalties.

Blames Mother in Suicide Letter

CINCINNATI. (AP) — William McNeil, 22, of Mexico, Maine, died in a gas-filled room today, leaving a note addressed to the mother he had not seen since he was nine.

Returning a verdict of suicide Coroner Frank Coppock said the note read in part:

"Oh mother, can't you understand how I have suffered, how I have needed your love? I can't stand it. My life is too lonesome without you.

Relatives said the mother, Mrs. Herbert Nyholt of Los Angeles, separated from McNeil's father when he was a child.

PEACE NEARS FOR EUROPE AND ORIENT

By The Associated Press

Major international differences in Europe and the Orient seemed today to be moving a stage nearer settlement — bloodlessly on one hand and in one of the world's greatest battles on the other.

European chancelleries discussed prospects of a general European appeasement in which Italy would gain British recognition of her Ethiopian conquest and Germany would regain colonies lost in the World war.

Announcement of an agreement looking toward satisfaction of Germany's long-shouted demands for sources of raw materials under her own flag was suggested as the "big surprise" to come in a Reichstag speech next Sunday by Reichfuehrer Adolph Hitler.

Hitler's dramatic conference Saturday with Austria's Chancellor Kurt Von Schuschnigg, which was believed to have been erased long standing Austrian-German tension, was a condition to what was regarded widely as a new and more hopeful approach to peace for Europe.

Britain and France on one hand and Italy ard Germany on the other seemed almost ready for accord.

Dispatches from the headquarters of Spanish insurgency, meanwhile, disclosed Generalissimo Francisco Franco was massing reinforcements to build his 815,000 man army up to 1,000,000 for a spring offensive designed to give him victory.

I am an advertising man

For over thirty years I have been writing advertisements for national advertisers—shoes, soap, cereals, automobiles, radios, tobacco, blankets, tooth-powder.

To me it is the most fascinating work in the world—learning about the merits of merchandise and then telling people about them—bringing greater comfort, and enjoyment, into people's lives—introducing people to new pleasures, helping them to get the most for their money.

Besides being fascinating, it is satisfying. My intimate experience with advertisers has shown me that, except for rare exceptions, the manufacturers and merchants of this nation lean over backwards to be sincere and honest.

The law of advertising is simple once one understands its working—the more people know about the merit of a product, the more people buy it. The greater the volume of sales, the less the cost to manufacture. Savings in making mean either lower prices to the consumer or greater value put back into the merchandise.

As an advertising man I can sincerely affirm that it pays to read the advertisements in the newspapers—for news of new things, for news of bargains and savings.

There are thousands of other men—and women—devoting their lives to advertising writing, who will tell you the same thing. They know!

PRE-PRIMARY WORK SET FOR TONIGHT

Choices to Attend Riverside Conclave

Members of the tri-county committee in charge of the 19th congressional district's streamlined Republican caucus will meet tonight to discuss organization of delegate bodies for the pre-primary convention, Chairman M. B. Wellington said today.

Wellington said it was probable delegates would be chosen by supervisorial districts for the April 21 conclave, slated for Riverside.

A meeting will be called of committeemen and representatives of the Republican assembly within the near future, it was believed, for the purpose of coordinating the G. O. P. drive this year.

OFFICIAL STATE

The assembly, in the meantime, announced it would pick an official slate of primary candidates, at a meeting to be held "not less than 30 nor more than 60 days" from this date. The G. O. P. group completed a two-day convention in Riverside last night.

Marked for platform consideration were such subjects as the old age pension, balancing of the federal budget, taxation, and solution of agricultural problems, "with emphasis on marketing and distribution of products as against crop control."

FEDERAL CENSORSHIP

In resolutions the group protested what it termed federal censorship of radio, and went on record as opposing a unicameral California legislature and repeal of the state sales tax.

Officers elected were:

George Newell of Ventura, chairman; Casper Scott of Ventura, secretary; Watt Brown of Santa Barbara, treasurer; Phillip Landis of San Francisco, assistant secretary, and Marvin Sherwin of Oakland, assistant treasurer.

College Reunion In Banning

Miss Muriel Matzen, secretary to Howard Wood of the chamber of commerce, accompanied by Miss Alice Borchard, also of Santa Ana, Miss Alice Beth Howlands of Newport Beach, and Roy Lewis of Tustin, were week-end guests at the home of Mrs. C. O. Barker in Banning.

The party enjoyed a college reunion with former classmates at the San Gorgonio pass community. They also made a trip to the desert in and around Palm Springs during their stay.

Farm Inspectors Get Examination

Ten applicants for positions in the agricultural inspection service were examined today by W. H. Wright of the state department of agriculture.

The tests were conducted in the office of D. W. Tubbs, Orange county agricultural commissioner. All applicants reside in Orange county, said Tubbs, who expressed regret that a larger number of persons did not appear today for the examination.

Maestro

Billy McDonald (above) will bring his 13-piece Royal Highlanders dance band to Orange county next Monday night. The Highlanders will play the tenth annual Military ball, to be held in Valencia ballroom.

Billy McDonald and his Royal Highlanders, top-notch Pacific Coast dance hand, will furnish music for the tenth annual Military Ball next Monday, Chairman J. Riley Huber of the music committee announced today.

The Highlanders feature smooth dance music and a galaxy of radio stars. Specialty performers include the Three Midshipmen, male trio recently featured in motion pictures and national radio broadcasts; the Highlanders glee club, and the Rhythm Vendors.

McDonald's band comes here after 12 weeks at the Cafe De Paree, Los Angeles. Prior to the Los Angeles engagement it played in Natatorium Park, Spokane; Trianon ballroom and the Olympic hotel, Seattle, and Janson Beach, Portland.

Advance ticket sales indicate a capacity crowd will be on hand for the affair, to be held in Valencia ballroom, Highway 101. The sponsoring organization is Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

STATE CRASHES COST 4 LIVES

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Three pedestrians and an auto passenger died yesterday as a result of traffic accidents in California.

Carl Bishell, 40, Fresno laborer, was killed in a collision between cars driven by Harold Louroyan, 21, and Jack Bedel. Bedel suffered scalp lacerations.

Oscar H. Hammon, 34, Hermosa Beach, was struck and fatally injured by an automobile.

Ulysses G. Shafer, 51, of El Monte, and Manuel Segovia, 40, Los Angeles, who were hurt at street intersections last week, succumbed yesterday.

Run down Saturday night at Needles by a hit-run motorist, William Myers, 23, was reported in a critical condition today. Police held Carlos Alvarez in connection with the accident.

DR. E. B. DELL RITES PLANNED

Sycamore Rebekahs will hold graveside rites at the funeral of Dr. Edna Bailey Dell tomorrow at 2 p. m. at Fairhaven cemetery following services at Smith and Tuthill's chapel.

Dr. Dell died Feb. 13 at her home, 806 East Fourth street. She had lived in Santa Ana 16 years and is survived by her husband, J. R. Dell, and a daughter, Mrs. Edna Staley of Montebello. She was a member of the First Baptist church.

Troops to Halt Ethiopia Revolt

LONDON. (AP)—Reuters (British news agency) dispatches from Aden said today that a large number of troops had been sent from Addis Ababa to crush a serious revolt which broke out in various sections of Ethiopia.

The outbreaks were reported in Gojjam province, northwest of the capital, and Borana, South Ethiopia. Most of the troops sent to restore order were native, Reuters said.

J. W. SIMPSON DIES AT 66

James W. Simpson, 77, who has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. W. H. Harrison, for the past two years, died today after a brief illness. He was born July 27, 1861, in Paris, Mo., and later moved to Stevensville, Mont., where he farmed for many years. He was a lifelong member of the Presbyterian church.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Anna C. Simpson; Mrs. Harrison and another daughter, Mrs. Frank Borg of Missoula, Mont.; and five sons, Capt. Francis Simpson of Easton, Conn., Morton D. Simpson of Hurley, N. M., Lawrence L. Simpson of San Francisco, and Capt. James R. Simpson of Manila, Philippine islands.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at Fairhaven mausoleum. Smith and Tuthill will announce the hour later. The family has requested no flowers.

WIDOW FILES DAMAGE SUIT

A widow and her year-and-a-half old son filed suit today against the Pacific Electric railway for $50,350 damages for death of Antonio Roa, 33, struck by a railway car Feb. 5.

Plaintiffs in the action are Mrs. Theresa Roa and her small son, Tony, one and one-half years old. A. A. Bish, motorman, also is named defendant.

Roa was killed, according to the complaint, when Bish's car struck the truck he was driving at the Imperial boulevard crossing.

C. V. CALHOUN DIES AT 57

Clyde V. Calhoun, 57, former Intertype operator on The Journal, died today at a local hospital after an extended illness. He had lived in Santa Ana 15 years, and is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ella Belle Calhoun, and a brother, Burke Calhoun of Romance, Ark.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. at the Brown and Wagner Colonial chapel with private cremation following.

SOLONS DELAY WOMAN'S BILL

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The senate judiciary committee delayed final action today on a constitutional amendment proposed by Senator Burke (D., Neb.) to give women equal rights with men under the constitution.

The committee divided 8 to 8 on a motion to report it favorably to the senate.

Senator Pittman (D., Nev.) who cast the tying vote, said he had "grave doubts as to how the amendment would work out," but declared the senate should be allowed to pass on the question.

Marines Turn Back Japs on Bicycle

SHANGHAI. (AP)—A patrol of 12 United States marines turned back two Japanese riding a motorcycle on Bubbling Well road here today. The Japanese were armed.

The marines acted on grounds of non-interference in the American defense sector.

The incident occurred after armed Japanese patrols, for the past three days, had been sauntering along Nanking and Bubbling Well roads and were alleged to have searched some Chinese.

Man, 39, Held In Bad Check

Aaron M. Ozmun, 39, today was held to answer to the superior court on charges of issuing fictitious checks to George Avas.

Bail was kept at $1500 by Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison following Ozmun's preliminary hearing. The defendant was arrested on check charges Jan. 23.

Sonja Knows Every Spin

BY DALE CARNEGIE

I have just seen a motion picture starring Sonja Henie, "Ah," I said, "how young success came to her. It must have been easy." It almost made me want to be a figure skater!

Dale Carnegie

The next day I met Earl Wingart of the Twentieth Century-Fox picture company. He knows Sonja, and he gave me an interesting peep behind the scenes.

Professional skating is such hard work, Earl said, that Sonja has to have ten hours sleep a night.

She knows every spin and turn and curlycue in 90 championship figures.

Nearly every time she goes on the ice she loses a pound—in winter as well as in summer.

SHE PAID PRICE

She practiced the common everyday "toe-whirl" three years before she attempted it in public.

Her food has to be especially prepared and cooked.

She studied dancing 14 years in order to be a more graceful skater.

She earned the right to be a famous skater. She paid the price for success that the gods demand.

What would you say are the four greatest novels ever written?

"Madame Bovary," by Gustave Flaubert.

"War and Peace" and "Anna Karenina" by Tolstoi.

"The Brothers Karamazov" by Dostoievski.

Homer Croy, who has written ten novels himself, said that he considers "Gone With the Wind" the greatest novel ever written.

SOME FAVORITES

Here are some of my favorites: "The Good Earth" by Pearl S. Buck.

I read it en route to Hong Kong and I learned more about the real China than I did by my six weeks' stay in that country.

"The Way of All Flesh" by Samuel Butler.

"Old Wives' Tale" by Arnold Bennett.

"Marie Chapdelaine" by Louis Hemon.

I believe I have been influenced more by the novels of Frank Norris than by those of any other American. I not only read "The Octopus," but I studied it. If you want to read a superb novel, a novel that will enthrall you, go to your public library and ask for a copy of "The Octopus."

When H. G. Wells was young, he longed to be rich and famous. Now that he is rich and famous, he longs to be young . . . Why are we so foolish? Why don't we enjoy what we have when we have it?

FIRE PERILS BRITISH SHIP

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone. (AP)—Fire in a hold which caused the British freighter, Lochmonar to put back into Cristobal yesterday was declared extinguished today with relatively little damage to her cargo, mostly shipped at California ports for Liverpool.

Firemen believed spontaneous combustion developed in cotton bales shortly after the ship left Los Angeles, but it was not until after she had passed through the Panama canal and started for Liverpool that the fire was discovered and the Lochmonar had to turn back.

Use of fuller's earth was credited with saving the $1,000,000 ship and cargo. A large shipment of California fruit was believed to be undamaged.

TRUCK WEIGHTS SET BY COURT

WASHINGTON. (AP) — The supreme court held today provisions of a South Carolina law limiting the gross weight of trucks to 20,000 pounds and the width to 90 inches can be applied to vehicles operating in interstate commerce on standard concrete or asphalt highways.

Justice Stone delivered the decision on another of the many controversies over the boundaries of federal and state power.

The 1933 state statute was intended to preserve the highways and promote safety. Illinois, Kentucky and Texas had filed briefs contending states had the right to regulate use of their highways. Florida attacked the South Carolina regulations.

MINE VICTIM BODIES FOUND

KEMMERER, Wyo. (AP) — The bodies of four men killed in a mine explosion Friday were recovered shortly after midnight today by eight men who fought their way over a snow choked road to the mine entrance, Carl Arendson, supervisor of the Wyoming forest, announced.

Arendson said he received word of the recovery of the bodies by telephone and short wave radio from the Young ranch, near where the mine is located.

Henry Ash, the fifth miner killed in the explosion, was blown out of the tunnel by the blast. He lived only a few minutes after the explosion.

W. G. ROBBINS DIES AT 85

William Gardner Robbins, 85, a resident of Tustin for the past 15 years, died yesterday at his home after a brief illness. He was a retired lumber dealer.

Survivors include a son, Harold W. Robbins of Tustin; two grandsons, Richard C. Robbins of Holland, Mich., and Roger Brown Robbins of Tustin; a sister, Mrs. Agness Baker of Tustin; and a brother, Alfred Rufus Robbins of Santa Monica.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. at Smith and Tuthill's chapel, with the Rev. Calvin Duncan officiating. Burial is to be at Topeka, Kansas.

Pasadena, Cal., has passed an ordinance barring dogs from the streets between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Coast Junior College Meeting Set Tuesday

RAMBLING AROUND ORANGE COUNTY —with— T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

Widespread public clamor causes me to start this department to rolling again.

(Will that guy in the third row, who's been booing, please take his hat and go on home?)

Anyway, in spite of the guy in the third row, we're starting out all over again.

It isn't with any great confidence that I tackle the job once made. 'S a grind, sorta, and it seems to be tougher than ever to pick up where we left off 'way back last July. Or was it Tuesday?

However, here we are again, for worse or worse!

First, for the flood of letters.

Well, trickle, anyway.

The boss, wanting me to feel enthusiastic toward this job, handed over only the laudatory comment. The ones crying "Phooey" and containing verbal dead cats, I fear he's saving for the next time I ask for a raise. Or a day off to see the races, or something.

About the first writer-in-er was my old friend, Marion Speer, author and museum-keeper from Oceanview. He became so complimentary that the very next day, according to the newspaper, he up and left for the desert on a fossil-hunting trip. I'm trying to connect up the trip and letter, but haven't found any solution ylet.

Then along comes George Franzen of Orange, one of my favorite police chiefers. He picks up right where we left off last summer by offering a pencil for me to do my work. I'm going to send him a nice red apple, or tell all the tramps Orange is a nice place, or something like that!

George Higgins, San Clemente's ace stamp hunter, also writes, as does Allie Lou Mosier from Placentia. Both scream loudly, with a great waster of ink, for action. Here 'tis.

Also from Placentia writes Jack Crossley, one of my favorite high school principals. Jack says the journalism class is watching my efforts, so when "ain't" and other bobbles show up, I'll be expecting to hear from 'em.

Mrs. Nell Murbarger writes in from Costa Mesa with threats of a sit-down strike on The Journal steps if we don't start columning again. Without taking the trouble to point out to her there aren't any steps, I'll just send thanks. And a promise to give that community a better break than before. (Seeing as I live there now.)

* * *

Carl Hankey, new president of the coast association and flower-grower deluxe, also spends three cents, for which I thank him profusely. The old standby, Harry Welch, at Newport, and his pal, Charley Dennison, also patted the editorial back, adding a suggestion that certain harbor activities be included in the Saturday column, as in the past. So it looks as if we'll hear about the harbor on Saturdays, as usual.

* * *

As for the thousands of other letters—there's that guy booing again—thanks. The dead cat department has been officially closed and any other contributions will be referred to the city poundmaster!

And now to work.

The mental shirt sleeves haven't been rolled up for so long it's going to take a bit of time to get going again. Besides, I'd like to hear what you'd like to read. Will it be about fishing, or people, or towns, or what? Any suggestions will be appreciated. Or should we do something about Josephine, the family cat, and the new dog? You see, Bertha, the family tail-wagger, has been wafted to a place where dog food doesn't come in cans, and a new, floppy-eared spaniel named Joseph has taken her place. I'm afraid, whether you like it or not, Joseph'll get in your hair occasionally. He's in mine all the time!

Incidentally, wolud you be interested to know that Uncle Sam Meyer, leading publisher at Newport has been branching out a bit? Uncle Sam, in the good old days, often would hand out a free cigaret to visiting reporters. The other day, on the street he handed me a cigar! Maybe he's going to run for office or something?

(I found out later the sheriff gave the cigar to him, but here's a vote for Meyer, anyway!)

That seems to be that, for the time being. Tomorrow, if all goes well, we may read something on the striped kitty scare at Laguna—or I might be able to dig up something about John Thomas Africa's skeeter club at Huntington Beach. John Thomas has been leading altogether too carefree a life these days, with no one but Jim Farquhar to take pokes at him.

Anyway, see you tomorrow.

Mesa Auxiliary To Meet Tonight

COSTA MESA.—The American Legion auxiliary will meet tonight in an important business session, Hattie Tait, president, said today. Those from Costa Mesa who attended the twenty-first district meeting in Riverside Thursday were Hattie Tait, Joseph C. Payne, Geraldine Grupe and Judy Wilcox.

WORKERS TO REPORT AT H. B. SESSION

Coastline Boosters To Hear School Plan

HUNTINGTON BEACH. — Possibility of a junior college at some point along the coast will be discussed at the monthly meeting of the Orange County Coast association tomorrow evening in the Golden Bear cafe here, W. H. Gallienne, in charge of local arrangements, announced today.

Judge D. J. Dodge, Costa Mesa, John Malcom, San Juan Capistrano and W. J. Bristol, Huntington Beach, heading a committee named by President Carl Hankey to investigate the junior college situation, met Friday afternoon and will have a complete report for members tomorrow night, it was announced this morning.

Included in the report will be assessed valuation of coastal areas to be affected by the junior college plan, number of students in the area and other necessary data. The committee will make no recommendation, but merely will give a picture of the situation along the coast at the present time.

Other members of the committee are Hankey, from San Juan Capistrano; Aaron Buchheim, Doheny Park; Judge Fred S. Warner, San Clemente; Leslie F. Kimmell, Laguna Beach; George Thompson and Robert Rowland, president of the South Coast Improvement association, South Laguna; J. P. Greeley and Theo Robins, Newport-Balboa; J. A. Beek, Balboa Island, and C. A. Miller, Seal Beach.

Appointment of general committees will be confirmed at the meeting and an outline for the year's work presented, it was announced. The meeting will open with a 6:30 o'clock dinner, President Hankey announced.

HEIGHTS GROUP IS ORGANIZED

LA HABRA.—Banding together to work for the general improvement of the "Heights," citizens of the La Habra Heights district this week formed an association, at a session held at the Hacienda Country club. This permanent organization has at the head F. E. Whitman, president; Dr. H. L. Deighton, vice president; R. R. Brown, secretary, and Mrs. A. T. Charlton, treasurer, with Miss Dema Harshbarger, Raymond Marsh, and Dr. L. B. Phelps as the other members of the board of directors.

The principal objectives are improvements of roads, of fire protection facilities, and any other work that makes the district more secure. A first consideration will be fire protection.

The residence district of homes in orchards has been something of a "step child." It is connected, with highways and by close proximity, with Orange county, but lies chiefly in Los Angeles county. At present, fire protection must be brought from Los Angeles county fire station at San Dimas, a distance 20 miles, which, according to the association, is no protection.

Coed Revolt Streamlines Manners

By JOAN DURHAM
AP Feature Service Writer

Students are streamlining etiquette at Oregon State college in Corvallis, Ore.

They've found that several time-honored rules don't work at fraternity or sorority house gatherings and at other large gatherings of students.

To prove their point these nicety-conscious students have organized an etiquette committee which puts on demonstrations in campus houses and halls. Teams of two or three girls travel from house to house at dinner-time to demonstrate modern collegiate etiquette.

Janet Hinkle, attractive junior from Portland and one of the leaders of the program of common sense behavior, lists some of the advocated changes.

When everyone at the dinner table rises every time an order person comes in, it causes confusion. Circumvent that custom by requiring standing on the part of only the persons on either side of the place the newcomer is to sit.

Always approach your chair from the left, to avoid barked shins when a long line of diners is being seated on the same side of the table. (Either side has been pronounced as correct by etiquette authorities.)

Let the hostess or house mother lead the way to the dining-room—even if she goes ahead of honored guests. (The latter is a practice that's tabooed by etiquette dictators.) It will save embarrassing hesitancy.

Other points touched on by the demonstrators are: How to hold a partner at a dance, proper instructions, being pleasant to and considerate of chaperones, opening doors for dates.

Miss Hinkle says the committee first requires of the boys what they think is best, then confers with the girls and finally, "when we find general agreement on some practice we put it into our rules."

Asked how a girl should thank a boy for a date she said the committee hadn't gone into too much detail—and then added, "We leave a few things to individual initiative."

RITES HELD FOR PASTOR AT MESA

COSTA MESA.—At the largest funeral ever known in Costa Mesa, more than 500 persons gathered Saturday to pay their last respects to the Rev. Harold J. Smith, beloved pastor of Community church, who was the victim of a heart attack early Wednesday morning.

Officiating at the services were Dr. James Dunning, district superintendent and long-time friend of the deceased, and the Rev. Grow S. Brown, former Costa Mesan and now of the faculty of the Spanish-American institute in Gardena.

The Rev. Mr. Smith, who was a native of Ballarat, Victoria, Australia, came to Costa Mesa eight months ago and during this brief period had succeeded in winning the admiration and respect of the entire community. He was an active Lion club member and had only recently been appointed "Sky Pilot" of the local club.

Prior to his accepting the pastorate of Costa Mesa Community church, the Rev. Mr. Smith had served churches in Los Angeles, Long Beach, Alhambra, Maywood and Oxnard. From 1913 to 1927 he was pastor of the Thoburn church in Calcutta, India, and prior to that time was a missionary in the high mountain regions of India.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

Sergeant O'Leary continued to advise Jim. "Say, boy, forget it. You wouldn't have a chance in this storm. Sunset trail is a myth, a bug-a-boo.

"If my men can't find anything in broad daylight what do you think you could do? Anyway," he argued, "I'm inclined to think the whole thing is a stall, simply a publicity stunt. That Drake dame is full of stunts."

"I know, but—"

"You say the Rawson guy is in town. Tell you what I'll do. Have him tailed. If there's anything up we'll find out fast enough."

"Do that, will you, O'Leary?"

"Sure." He reached for the telephone. "Go home and forget it, I'll give you a ring if anything develops."

"Thanks." Still not satisfied Jim left the station. Thoughtfully he drove home. There he changed to a heavy suit and overcoat.

In his outside pocket he put a loaded revolver. He had his car filled and head out Broadway.

IDEA

Rain fell in sheets, already it was showing an inclination to freeze on the windshield. The wiper, fanning back and forth dhythmically, left icy streaks in its wake.

As Jim drove rapidly through the downpour Curt Rawson, at the bar in the Starlet night club, was suddenly struck with an idea. He went to a telephone and called Slim.

"Locate Jim Blanchard," he said. I've a hunch he's up to something."

"Hell," said Slim. "Okay." It was later, after Curt was in bed, that Slim called back.

"He's skipped, boss. His car is gone and he's not in his room.

It was Curt's turn to say "hell." But he actually felt small alarm.

Undoubtedly Jim was out in search of Merrie but a lot of good that would do him. Even if he knew where she was he couldn't find her.

Not on a night like this. Curt slept better that night. The storm and the check in his pocket gave him a sense of security. Even so, he strained toward the morning when the bank doors should open.

NEED FOR MONEY

Waking early he reviewed the situation. Had he been wise in promising Merrie her freedom? Perhaps Peachy's idea was best.

Even the cheerful Slim advocated closing her mouth for good and all. Curt recoiled from the thought. Merrie was a sweet little thing.

Under ordinary circumstances he could have been very fond of Merrie. Oh, to be carefree again. Just how had he become involved in a situation where crime was necessary?

But there it was. Step by step he had been led into shady activities by the crying need for money. One thing had led to another. But it mustn't end in murder.

Or, after all, should it? Perhaps he'd better start with a clean slate. Another thing which weighed on Curt's mind was Peachy Low. Just how was he to rid himself of her?

When Jake Hawley and his gang were satisfied he must take up the matter of Peachy. But that golden skinned gal would have enough on him to put him behind bars.

GLARE OF ICE

Curt sat on the edge of his bed and cursed the fates.

It was almost four when Jim stopped at an all night filling station in Kingston. The last two hours had been a test of endurance, a fight between man and the elements.

The night had grown steadily colder, but still, from some warm strata in the clouds, rain fell.

The pavement had become a glare of ice, trees and bushes bent with the weight of it. Time and again Jim had dug wafers of ice from the windshield and headlights. But stubbornly, doggedly, he kept on.

He was unable to fathom his motives. Merrie was no longer a concern of his. If she were in trouble she had wilfully brought it on herself.

But was she in trouble? Had O'Leary been right? Was this but another mad publicity stunt? Or perhaps a feminine trick to bring him back into line?

Several times he had stopped at a cross road with the intention of turning back, but each time, as if driven by a force stronger than himself, he had forged ahead.

The lights of his car formed a wavering funnel into the dripping darkness. At the end of the funnel a ghostly Merrie led him on, always on.

Sliding, careening, unable to keep on the pavement, he struggled in pursuit of the phantom which shimmered at the end of the funnel.

QUESTIONS

At Kingston Jim refueled his car and inquired the way to Sunset trail. He sat at a corner and consumed bacon and eggs and numerous cups of strong coffee.

"Nice night you have for making a trip to the mountains," remarked the attendant who was also chef and waiter. "A picnic, maybe?" He grinned pleasantly.

"Not exactly."

"Funny about Sunset trail. Always having inquiries about it. Newspaper guys, dicks, traffic cops—every week or so. Never comes to anything though."

"Has anyone inquired lately?" Jim pushed his cup across the counter and the man filled it.

"Not more'n a week ago. The night that gunman was shot—."

"Anything irregular last night?"

"Not that I noticed. A fellow gets to filling tanks without waking up." He looked curiously at Jim. "Something happen down in the city?"

"I wish I knew." Jim called O'Leary from the pay station.

"Any news?" he asked.

"Not a thing. Rawson went straight to his apartment from the roof. Everything quiet as a Sunday school meeting. I called off the boys. You're on the wrong track, Blanchard."

KEEPS ON

Jim paid his bill and went back to his ice bound car. Twelve miles to Sunset Trail. Shifting into low he gingerly pressed the accelerator.

The wheels spun, the engine roared. By edging the car to the shoulder he got traction at last.

Wobbling, slithering, half the time crosswise with the pavement, he crept on. The going was a little easier when he left the highway and started a gradual climb on a rough gravel road.

When his headlights picked out the sign, "Sunset Trail," he carefully turned in.

Fresh tire tracks in the gravel encouraged him. A car had gone that way before the freeze. Two cars, or perhaps the same on returning.

Slowly he climbed, the engine in low, the back end of his car determined to take the lead. Rain slanted across the headlights and splashed on the ice covered radiator.

There was no sign of dawn. By main force or will Jim kept the car out of the ditch. It jounced from side to side on the frozen ruts. Those ruts were the only beacon in a wilderness of ice.

The road wound upward, always steeper. Side lanes led off, they were blacker gaps in the black underbrush.

Jim felt lost in a world of moaning wind and pitchy blackness. Once he made a wrong turn. The road was smooth and glassy. No car had been that way. He slid back to the jagged ruts.

SLUMPS DOWN

At last the incline became so steep that the wheels spun and slipped backward. Jim's arms ached.

Although it was bitter cold his face was wet with perspiration. Slipping and sliding he backed off the road and maneuvered the car behind a thicket of young spruce.

"I'll have to wait until daylight," he said aloud. "Then I'll follow the ruts on foot."

Exhausted he slumped down in the seat and rested his head on the back. His eyes closed, drowsiness crept over his weary body.

"Mustn't sleep too long," he muttered. His head dropped forward.

The pistol shot was followed by a roar and rattling swish. Jim waited without breathing.

JOINS 'HOLE-IN-ONE'

Orange county's first golfer to shoot a hole-in-one this year, Don Mozley aced the No. 11 at Willowick Saturday. He was playing with Mark Lassiter.

The ball hit right into the 132-yard hole, just in front of the flag stick. Mozley's was the 23rd hole-in-one ever scored on the West Fifth street course.

ONE YOU MUST SEE!

Basketball fans will have a rare treat in store for them Friday night. Orange's Panthers of the Sunset league and Tustin's Tillers of the Orange league, as champions, will enter the first round of the C. I. F. playoffs at Tustin, and if there's a vacant seat by game-time we'll miss our guess.

Most of the egg-sperts are stringing with Hod Chambers' Orange quintet, but Bill Cole's Tustin crew, with a brilliant defense, cannot be counted out of it. Cole believes his Tillers are defensively as strong as the club that carried the little school to the Southern California championship last winter.

DANSON GETS 'SHOT'

Tom Danson, The Journal's newscaster, broke into the movies yesterday with Santa Anita's Playmay, the hoss that paid $673.40 to win the other day.

FULL TILT WINS AT CALIENTE

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex. (AP)—Going to the front in the stretch, Full Tilt won the six-furlong San Clemente, $800 handicap yesterday. Rickey Roo was second and Lady Lakeside third. The winner paid $11.40, $6.20 and $5.20. The $800 La Mesa handicap over six furlongs was won by Johnny Brigade with Gold Lace second and Buck-On, the favorite, third. Johnny Brigade paid $11.80, $7.20 and $4.20.

JOHNSON'S SPRINTS INJECT LIFE INTO INDOOR TRACK

NEW YORK. (AP)—Ben Johnson, who has injected new life into the indoor track season with his series of record smashing sprint triumphs, goes to the mat with old man time twice more this week.

Johnson will be among the stars who will trek to Providence, R. I., Tuesday night for the annual meet of the Columbus club of the Knights of Columbus. Saturday night in the New York athletic club meet, he will be back at Madison Square Garden and the track on which he twice broke the world's record for the 60-yard dash in the Millrose games.

He will run 40 yards against Perrin Walker of the N. Y. A. C. at Providence and 60 yards at the winged foot games.

Johnson, the season's most consistent performer, has won nine straight races including heats, and is well on the way to one of the most sensational seasons ever enjoyed by an American college sprinter.

The Columbia captain showed himself ready for the winged foot games by winning the briggs 50-yard dash at the Boston A. A. games Saturday night over a fast field which included Perrin Walker, Lawrence Scanlon and Herbert Thompson. The time was 5.5.

Cunningham returned 4:10 at Boston Saturday night after running 4:15.2 Friday night over the seventh regiment Armory's unbanked track. His best time for the Baxter mile is the 4:09.8 he turned in 1935 and it is extremely probable that he will approach or better this figure this week, especially if Archie San Romani has recovered sufficiently from his spike wound to push the mile king.

Don Lash, who will also run in both meets, has eschewed the Baxter mile for the two-mile run. Limited to his favorite event, the Hoosier should again be a potential record breaker. The rejuvenated Joe McClusky, who has been pressing him, returned 9:03.6 in the two-mile at Boston Saturday night.

Jim Herbert, who holds the same kind of margin over the field at the 500 and 600 that Johnson, Cunningham and Lash do in their specialties, will run in the 600-yard invitation event at Providence and the Buermeyer 500, one of the best known indoor race at this distance, Saturday night.

Willowick's Golfers Enter Second Round

TEXAN TRIMS SNEAD FOR OPEN CROWN

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Jimmy Demaret, who learned his golf in Texas and still practices it there, took the lion's share of the purse and the title of San Francisco match play open champion back to the Lone Star state toray.

The 27-year-old professional, born in Houston and connected with the Braeburn Country club there, defeated heavy-hitting Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., 4 and 3, in the 36-hole finals yesterday.

Demaret, topping the field after five days of play in rain and wind, hauled down $1000 for his end. It was the most important tournament he had won, although he is the present and three times Texas P. G. A. titleholder, and he outlasted some of the finest shotmakers in the country to do it.

In the finals, Demaret played steady although not spectacular golf to take the measure of Snead, 1937 Ryder cup team member and winner of three tournaments during the current winter swing.

Demaret won the first hole with a birdie 4 and maintained his lead throughout the day. He was 3 up at the ninth, 2 up at the 18th and 3 up again at the 27th.

The 33rd hole, ending the match, saw Snead concede victory after he had hooked his drive into the woods and finally reached the green in four strokes. Demaret was on in two for an easy par four.

With rain beating down, Demaret toured the San Francisco club's tricky par 36-35—71 course in 35-40—75 for the morning round of the finals. Snead had a 38-39—77 for the same distance. The Texan finished eight strokes over par while Snead was a dozen shots over the standard requirements for that many holes.

Demaret qualified with 77-77—154. In the evening round of match play he defeated former National Open Champion Olin Dutra, 1 up. In succeeding rounds he won from Vic Ghezzi, 3 and 2; Emil Mashie, 2 and 1; Henry Pickard, 4 and 3, and from Snead by the same count.

Speedboat Titles Go to Outsiders in L. B. Regatta

LONG BEACH. (AP) — Major honors in the eleventh annual midwinter speedboat championships belonged today to Bill Schyler of Lompoc and Harold Ashley of Yuba City.

Schuyler placed first in "C" hydroplane and "C" racing runabout classes, and Ashley captured wins in "F" racing runabout and "C" service runabout divisions

Tommy Ingalls of Los Angeles, "A" hydroplanes; Bill Withington of Pasadena, "B" hydroplanes; Henry Jewell of San Diego, Pacific star hydroplanes, and Frank Verbeck of Pasadena, 225 cubic inch class, inboards

Six-Day Bike Race Annexed by Pedens

SOUTH GATE. (AP)—The California state 50-lap auto racing championship was claimed today by Spider Webb, Los Angeles driver, after his victory in a main event at the Southern Ascot speedway. He was timed in 24 minutes, 55.60 seconds.

Wally Shock of San Gabriel was second, George Chitwood of Tulsa, Okla., third, Don Farmer of El Monte fourth, Rajo Jack of Los Angeles fifth, and Jimmy Miller of Ingelwood sixth.

Resting 'With' But Not 'on' Their Oars

STANFORD ON HOT TRAIL OF BEAR FIVE

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP) — Home from a double-header win over University of Southern California at Los Angeles over the week-end, Stanford's Indians today began mapping their offense and defense against the conference-leading California Bears next Friday.

A win over the Bears at Palo Alto this week would put the Indians in a tie for the top spot of the southern division of the Pacific Coast basketball conference. Stanford, with Hank Luisetti held in check, beat the Trojans, 36 to 30, Friday night. Saturday night, however, Hank went to town and piled up 21 points to lead his teammates to a 48-to-35 victory.

The Bears had an easy time keeping U. C. L. A. out of the conference win column. They won, 32 to 21 and 41 to 22. The Bruins clash with U. S. C. Friday night.

Other Saturday night basketball games saw San Francisco Junior college defeat Modesto J. C., 45 to 35, as College of Pacific lost to Nevada, 44 to 34; Marin J. C. eked out a 31-to-30 win from San Mateo J. C.; the California Aggies downed Fresno State college, 40 to 32; Humboldt State Teachers, with a last-minute basket, defeated Chico State, 37 to 35, and at Sacramento Santa Rosa J. C. defeated Sacramento J. C., 39 to 33.

The standings:

Final Tribute to 'Grand Old Man Of Rowing' Slated

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Rowing celebrities from all parts of the United States will join tomorrow in final tribute to James A. Ten Eyck, Syracuse's "grand old man of rowing."

The list of honorary bearers at the former Syracuse rowing coach's funeral at the university chapel tomorrow afternoon includes former coaching associates, oarsmen and newspaper men who cover the sport.

Ten Eyck's body was brought home yesterday from Miami, Fla., where the 86-year-old coach died Friday.

Pedens Win Six-Day Bike Race

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—By a margin of 376 points, Torchy and Doug Peden of Victoria, B. C., won San Francisco's international six-day bicycle race which ended early yesterday.

In the 147½ hours of competition, the Canadians pedaled 2221 miles and piled up 1738 points. Jerry Dodman and Gerard Debaets were second and the team of Cocky O'Brien of San Jose, and Russell Allen, Los Angeles, finished third. The second place team also covered 2221 miles, but piled up only 1352 points.

Winter Sports in College Course

Games This Week

Citrus at Santa Ana.
Pomona at Chaffey.
Riverside at San Bernardino.

Preparing for their game with Citrus Jaysee at Tustin Thursday night, Santa Ana Junior college's basketball players engage Vic Baden's powerful Concordia club at 8 o'clock tonight in Walker's Memorial gym, Orange.

Concordia will face the Dons with a high-scoring trio in Walt Gunther, Walt Leichtfuss and Clarence Pargee. Coach Blanchard Beatty will send his customary lineup into the fray, with Cy Leivermann, Art Heinisch and Charles (Chuck) Hall leading the assault. Others who will see action are Del Holan, Lynn Arnett, Kenneth Marshall, Verne Rutledge and Ted DeVelbiss.

Riverside lost to the Fullerton's leaders Saturday night, 31-34, but led the Orange county team, 19-11, at the half. San Bernardino trapped Citrus, 55-39. Santa Ana trimmed Pomona, 51-41, last week.

WILSON FIVE SEEKS 18TH COURT WIN

Entering the last five-game stretch with Irvine still dogging their heels, Wilson's Dairy cagers will go after their 18th consecutive victory against M. E. South at 7:15 tonight in the first game of the Y. M. C. A. basketball league's doubleheader.

Church of the Brethren's club will meet Southern Counties Gas company's quintet at 8:30.

Other games this week: Wednesday—Barr Lumber company vs. Penhall's of Westminster, Irvine vs. Patterson's Dairy, Montgomery Ward vs Excelsior Creamery. Thursday — Treesweet Products vs. Al's Lock and Key Shop, Santa Ana (Woolen Mills) vs. San Juan Capistrano (county league game).

Lem Sticklin, Pet Raccoon On Wrestling Card Here

Lem Sticklin, the Tennessee hillbilly, and his pet raccoon, Oscar, will be the center of wrestling fans' interest on Thursday night at the Orange County Athletic club, in spite of the fact that Promoter Bud Levin has Felipe Romano, the Mexican junior heavyweight champion, wrestling his first main event here, meeting the Black Dragon.

Sticklin is the character who refuses to wrestle in anything but overalls and only when he can have Oscar in his corner. Oscar, a trained raccoon, not only is regarded by Sticklin as a good luck omen, but as no little aid in bringing down an unruly foe.

The raccoon has been known to pounce upon his master's foe and getting him so rattled that Lem has little trouble winning. Thursday night Sticklin meets Duke Pettigrove of Texas in the opening bout of the four-event card.

Jimmy Lott, the former Alabama football star, makes his first start in this section against "Pretty Boy" Piluso and Lei Kepu, Hawaiian star, faces Ted Christy. Lott and Piluso are billed for two out of three falls. The Dargon-Romano match is to a finish, two out of three falls.

TUNNEY PICKS SCHMELING

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Gene Tunney's opinion on fights is more in demand than details of his temperance crusade, the former heavyweight champion admitted today.

"People would rather I'd tell them if Schmeling will lick Louis. I think he will—," Tunney said.

He is on a country-wide tour for a distilling company, seeking remedies for high-pressure selling and drinking among youths.

"I am going to suggest modification of the industry's habits," he said.

ED LINKE SIGNS WITH BROWNS

ST. LOUIS. (AP) — The signed contract for the 1938 season of Pitcher Ed Linke, right hander obtained from Washington, was received today by the St. Louis Browns. Terms of the agreement were not divulged. Linke, who won six and lost one for the Senators last year, was traded even for Elon (Chief) Hogsett.

RIGGS ADDS TO NET LAURELS

winning his fourth winter tournament in five starts.

Riggs had to go five sets to win the Everglades final yesterday from Charles Harris of West Palm Beach, 6-0, 6-3, 4-6, 4-6, 6-1. The Chicago youth apparently relaxed after taking the first two sets with ease and before he regained his stride Harris, defending titlist, had evened the score.

Riggs and Wayne Sabin of Hollywood, won the doubles final from Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., and Dr. Eugene McCauliff of New York in another five-setter. The scores were 6-1, 6-2, 3-6, 3-6, 6-4.

DON MOZLEY ACES NO. 11 132-YD. HOLE

Willowick's annual handicap tournament headed into the second round today, with eight golfers still going strong in the first flight, and the West Fifth street club honoring its 23rd hole-in-one member in Don Mozley.

Mozley aced the No. 11, 132-yard hole Saturday, with Mark Lassiter as witness. It was Willowick's first hole-in-one of 1938, the ball hitting right into the hole just in front of the flag stick.

Divot-diggers who survived the first round of the handicap tournament were Charles Denio, W. T. Loescher, Robert Korff, Leo Gaspar, Al Peterson, Ray Burbank, Ray Echols and E. R. Byrne.

Out at the Santa Ana Country club, a rain-soaked course forced postponement of a return match with the Virginia Country club of Long Beach.

UNIVERSITY'S REGENTS IN CONFERENCE

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Athletic Director J. F. McKale has announced that the seven-man University of Arizona coach finding committee had reduced the application list of 70 would be successors to G. A. (Tex) Oliver, football coach, to a "working minimum."

From McKale's prior remarks the "working minimum" was interpreted as meaning probably half a dozen of the leading candidates.

As the selection neared, it became more and more apparent that Oliver, who is to take up his duties at the University of Oregon March 1, would have something say about the selection.

Although McKale declined to comment on that phase of the situation, other members of the committee — composed of two faculty, one undergraduate and two alumni representatives and McKale and Graduate Manager A. L. Slonaker—freely admitted they would have a "lot of respect" for any suggestion or recommendation Oliver might make.

The committee continued to remain silent, however, as to those under consideration. McKale reiterated no announcement would be made until the signature of Oliver's sucessor was on the dotted line.

BOARD OF REGENTS CONVENES TODAY

The application of A. J. (Bill) Cook, Santa Ana Junior college coach, was among those to be considered today by the board of regents which met to discuss a successor to G. A. (Tex) Oliver as coach at the University of Arizona.

Dons' Ruggers Face Test in Santa Barbara

Unable to play off a postponed rugby game with Pasadena Athletic club tomorrow night, Coach Ernest Butterworth prepared today to select 18 men for Santa Ana Junior college's trip north to meet Santa Barbara State college's ruggers either Friday or Saturday night.

With the addition of several of last year's football players and a crop of other newcomers making determined bids, regulars will be hard-pressed to retain their first-string ranking. Loss of seven ace ruggers through mid-semester transfer has hit the Dons hard.

Santa Barbara State was deadlocked three weeks ago, 3 to 3, in the Municipal Bowl and will again present a fleet outfit paced by a "little all-America" halfback, Howard Yeager.

Badminton Titles Won by Eversall and Stuebgin

CHICAGO 'CERTAIN' TO LAND SCHMELING-LOUIS FIGHT

NEW YORK. (AP)—New York state's esteemed boxing commissioners have come through again in the pinch and chased another "million-dollar" gate right out of town, no doubt to the relief of Manhattan's hotel men and tavern keepers, who wouldn't want to be bothered with a lot of extra business at the start of the summer season.

If there previously had remained some slight doubt that the anticipated championship meeting between Joe Louis and Max Schmeling this coming June would be conducted at Chicago, it has been removed by the commission's masterful handling of the big Tony Galento mystery of the past week.

BREAK FOR CHICAGO

The commission practically relieved Promoter Mike Jacobs of the necessity of making a decision on the championship site when it socked a suspension of Joe (Yussel) Jacobs, the manager of Galento—and likewise the manager of Schmeling. It was a great break for Chicago, which estimates the value of the scrap at around $5,000,000 in fresh money.

Up to this time, Joe, to the writers' knowledge, had been neutral. He didn't care whether Schmeling fought here or in Chicago, just so the affair drew "plenty of cabbages," as Joe quaintly puts it. But now he's all for Chicago, and he has talked Julian Black, one of Louis' pilots of records, into the same frame of mind. Promoter Mike Jacobs, worried about the New York Jewish boycott of Schmeling, was eager to be swayed in Chicago's favor, anyway.

Galento, if you didn't read the breathless details, had his license suspended by the indignant commissioners because he didn't let them know he had a damaged left hand. He was to have fought Harry Thomas at the Garden Friday night, but now Jimmy Adamick, the Detroit terror, is taking Tony's place.

Everything would have been all right, probably, if the alert commissioners had let things go at suspending Galento. It turned out that he didn't have a New York boxer's license anyway. Tony is a forgetful fellow. But when the solons decided to take an extra smack at the Yussel for good measure, they blew the works. Possibly they forgot his ancient working agreement with Schmeling.

KEEPS UP RECORD

The record of the commission in its effort to keep the super-fights out of its territory is remarkable. William Muldoon, the venerated father of the body, chased the two Dempsey-Tunney bouts to foreign parts because neither Jack nor Gene would give Harry Wills a shot at the title.

It since has been pretty generally agreed that Wills wasn't anything special in the way of heavyweights, and the muscle-bound Harlem negro is on the way to being completely forgotten. But nobody could tell Muldoon that at the time.

The commission also forced the Schmeling-Young Stribling scrap on Cleveland because Schmeling wasn't fighting Jack Sharkey, and more recently it outlawed the Louis-Jim Braddock bout to Chicago because Schmeling wasn't being treated right. As one of the Broadway crowd put it the other day, "Those guys are too honest for anybody's good."

That's one of the strangest parts about it. Whatever else you read about the commissioners—and you hear plenty in the course of time—there's nobody who questions their honesty of purpose.

STORE FRONT FACE LIFTING SUGGESTED

By GEORGE OVERDALE

Work will begin next Tuesday on plans for "face-lifting" a block of business buildings in downtown Santa Ana when 20 advanced students from the University of Southern California college of agriculture start a preliminary survey.

The university will conduct a study of a block on Fourth street during the next two months, drawing up plans and specifications on how the district selected may be modernized to advantage of property owners and storekeepers.

Two blocks on Fourth street, tentatively chosen by the college of agriculture as possibilities, are situated between Broadway and Birch streets at one side of the business section and Bush and Spurgeon streets in the eastern part. Emphasis will be placed upon store fronts with interior arrangement on both first and second stories also considered.

UP TO PROPERTY OWNERS

Whether the property owners then decide to re-build under the scheme submitted by the university will lie within their own discretion. If they follow through with suggestions Santa Ana will gain national acclaim as pioneering a new idea in sectional business building, according to Professor C. M. Baldwin, who will be in charge of the university project here.

"We would like to see our recommendations put into practice," Baldwin said, adding such a survey, if conducted through a private architect, would cost an exhorbitant price.

From inspections made of business sections throughout the United States, city planners have learned various blocks in downtown areas undergo trade volume changes over a period of years. Some properties suffer through age to the detriment of adjoining districts and to the profit of others at greater distance.

CONSCIOUS PLANNING

The scheme proposed by the college of architecture is to exert conscious planning before constructing new business blocks, architecturally arranging each store within the area so as to harmoniously conform with others. The theory behind this being that all storekeepers and property owners will benefit from cooperative planning.

Upon completion of the university's part of the project here, a replica of the section will go to the American Institute of Architects meeting next summer in New Orleans.

The university chose Santa Ana after a careful investigation lasting months, because it is the one "well-to-do" community in Southern California that best typifies the average American small city with a wealthy back country, according to Baldwin.

RAPIDLY GROWING

Whereas Santa Ana is rapidly growing, a large part of the business district has been established for a number of years. Other prosperous Southern California towns, whose entire business area recently sprang up, were not considered, inasmuch as such development is not typical of the average active community in the United States, Baldwin said.

University officials are desirous of conducting their work in a typical community, for later the scheme proposed here may be placed before architects throughout the United States as a plan they should follow in developing better stores in other typical American towns.

Thirteen Arrests On Drunk Charges

Thirteen arrests for drunkenness, including one for alleged drunk driving, were made by Orange county officers over the week-end, and seven more persons were picked up on vagrancy counts.

F. D. R. Presented With Highway Map

Farmers Happy About Crop of Grasshoppers

YODER, Colo. (AP)—Grasshoppers, fooled by spring-like February weather, are hatching out in eastern Colorado's plains country—and farmers are happy about it.

"With the 1938 'hopper crop hatching out now, the pests will be killed off by the next cold snap or snow, and crops will be safer," A. O. Mattson, a farmer, explained today.

"If it does not freeze, that will be another problem. . . ."

The area normally has March snows.

As evidence of the 'hopper hatching, Mattson carried a jar full of the newly hatched insects. He said he picked them up on a square foot of ground.

Surveys have led to forecasts of a serious grasshopper invasion in the region next summer.

Churches of Christ, Scientist

"Soul" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The Golden Text was from the Psalms: "My soul shall be joyful in the Lord: it shall rejoice in his salvation."

Among the Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon were these verses from the Proverbs: "My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not. . . . When wisdom entereth into thine heart, and knowledge is pleasant unto thy soul; Discretion shall preserve thee, understanding shall keep thee: "To deliver thee from the way of the evil man, from the man that speaketh froward things."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "If we have triumphed sufficiently over the errors of material sense to allow Soul to hold the control, we shall loathe sin and rebuke it under every mask. Only in this way can we bless our enemies, though they may not so construe our words. We cannot choose for ourselves, but must work out our salvation in the way Jesus taught."

ILLEGAL ENTRY

Melquiades Pacheco, 25, and Berdine Juan, 26, both of Oceanside, were booked at the county jail here Saturday on federal charges of illegal entry from Mexico.

TOWNSEND STILL HAS HOPES

When the Los Angeles Townsend club—or Townsend Trade Builders, Inc., as it is now called—moved into the somber quarters of a former mortuary, the remarks of the opponents of the Townsend plan were obvious.

But the Townsend plan is far from dead and the enthusiasm of its estimated million active members all over the country is now greater than ever, take it from the author of the $200 a month scheme, Dr. Francis E. Townsend, and the head of his office, J. P. Charlebois.

Currently, the Townsend organization's interest—in addition to its ever-present problem of crystalizing sentiment—is the distribution of petitions calling upon the governors of every state to press upon congress the necessity of passing a constitutional amendment to make the Townsend plan a law.

Townsendites also are interested at the moment in their leader's determination to go to jail, rather than appeal, for his refusal to testify before a special house committee investigating his old age pension plan. In March, 1937, Dr. Townsend was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $100 for contempt; this week, an appellate court upheld the conviction.

Through Charlebois, Dr. Townsend issued a statement recently telling why he is refusing to carry his case to the supreme court.

"The reason is, he is a poor man," said Charlebois, "not able to incur the expense. He refuses to use the money contributed by the Townsend clubs to protect himself from the punishment that has been decreed. So he proposes to serve his sentence of 30 days, perhaps 60, because he will not even spend the $100 which is included in his sentence."

Dr. Townsend wants it understood, Charlebois advised, "that he does not harbor any contempt for the congress of the United States as a whole, but that he will never cease to hold in contempt any committee of congressmen who transcend their powers and prerogatives and make a deliberate attempt toward the assassination of the character of witnesses who are ordered before such a committee.

"Dr. Townsend feels that he was unjustly treated; that the Bell committee transcended its authority, and that he did what any red blooded American should do when his character is assailed. Dr. Townsend fought the only way he could, and will continue to fight for the common man."

Three years ago, when the Townsend plan first became a political issue, its founders optimistically predicted that his idea of raising the funds by a tax of 2 per cent on all business transactions would become "a law within a year."

Dr. Townsend now makes no predictions, but his admirers and co-workers insist that he is as enthusiastic as ever. And, like him, they are convinced that within their lifetimes they will be handed $200 every month and, as the plan advocates, put it into circulation.

ENGLISH EARL GETS DIVORCE

LONDON. (AP) — Charles Guy Folke Greville, seventh Earl of Warwich, today was granted a conditional divorce (decree nisi) from the Countess of Warwick, whom he married in 1933.

He petitioned on grounds of his wife's asserted misconduct with Roger Bailey—who was cited as co-respondent—in Los Angeles, in 1936. The suit was not contested.

The earl stated his wife's attitude toward him changed after a son was born in 1934. She went to the United States in 1935 and spent some time in Hollywood, appearing in motion pictures.

Decree nisi means divorce will be made absolute after six months unless cause to the contrary, including misconduct of the petitioner, is shown.

Radio Performer Heads Cook Class

Guest director at tomorrow's weekly cooking class conducted by the Southern Counties Gas company will be Norma V. Young, known to many as the voice on the "Happy Homes" Mutual Broadcasting program on KVOE.

The class is held each Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Y. W. C. A. and is open to the public. Rosamund Hanna Church will introduce Miss Young and will assist in preparation of foods.

To be demonstrated are Harlequin plate, asparagus ring and salmon, cherry pudding and a thrift-cooker meal.

Farm Suggested For Drunkards

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Municipal Judge Harold B. Landreth recommended today the establishment of a rehabilitation farm for chronic drunkards.

"Drunks given jail sentences time after time are seldom cured, or even improved," he said. "They learn no lesson. They should be given drunk cures and get exercises, fresh air and a chance to rid their systems of the alcohol."

SHRINE DRILL TEAM

BOY FILM STAR FACES DEFICIT

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—If Freddie Bartholomew gives 20 per cent of his $100,000 yearly screen income to his father, his attorneys argue, the child film star is going to be in a bad way financially.

Counsel for Freddie petitioned the court for exemption from making the payments during 1938, contending that if he did he will probably be in debt at the end of the year.

The petition set forth that Freddie has a bank balance of $18,800 and will make $100,000 this year. Obligations, included, the court was told:

Federal and state income taxes of $67,000.

Attorney's fees of $15,000.

Living expenses of $9800 and agents' fees of $5000.

Also, the petition said, two agencies have claims against him totaling $44,300.

Market Reports Beverage Thief

Theft of three quarts of beer and three quarts of ginger ale was reported to police yesterday by Bill Jenkins, proprietor of a market at Fairview and Main streets.

Someone apparently stole the beverages by reaching through a grating which covered the market's open front, Jenkins said. A candy-vending machine had been tipped over, apparently in the same manner.

Beer Bottle Row Brings Police

Chargd with cracking a friend over the head with a beer bottle Saturday night, Genaro Morales, 27, 702 Fairlawn street, today faced a felony count of assault with a deadly weapon.

Accused of hitting Val Fegueroa during an argument at Fifth and Artesia streets, Morales told officers Figueroa had "tried to pick a fight" with him before the beer bottle was brought into play.

Justice Faints, But Recovers

BERKELEY. (AP)—Chief Justice William H. Waste of the California supreme court was reported entirely recovered today from a fainting spell that threatened to overcome him Saturday as he shopped in a Berkeley store. His physicians attributed the attack to acute indigestion.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. KOBB

This news of a new political party in the field in the coming primary and fall campaigns will undoubtedly have far reaching effects on the campaign plans of both the Democratic and Republican parties, as there was already evident intention of their bidding for the support of Townsend vote in the congressional campaign in the district. Just what upsets will happen now no one knows, but there will undoubtedly be plenty of dismay occasioned in political circles. Only one thing is certain as I write this article and that is there is going to be a Townsend party in California in time to have part in the coming elections. That much is definitely decided.

Santa Ana club No. 2 is putting on a pot-luck dinner at 5:30 o'clock tonight in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street. Bring a covered dish and come dressed in old clothes or in Valentine costume and bring some kind of a valentine with you. Here's your opportunity, boys, as it is announced there will be a postoffice and games and a general good time following the dinner. If you can't come to the dinner then come for the social time that will follow.

The Tustin club meets in the Townsend club building at West Main and C streets at 7 o'clock this evening, is all that the writer was able to learn as the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Benjamin, is away taking care of the sick, and John W. Sauers, another source of information, could not be contacted.

La Habra correspondent failed to send any word as to that club's meeting, which is held on Monday evenings in the Masonic hall on Central avenue at 7:30 o'clock.

Orange club No. 1 meets at 7:15 tomorrow night in the Townsend club building on South Glassell street with W. H. Harson, president in charge. Jimmy Green says there will be a speaker but had not been notified as to the party.

Mrs. Florence B. Parks, Buena Park correspondent, writes that the club held a fine meeting last Thursday night. A pot-luck dinner was indulged in at 6:30 and at 7:30 the business meeting was entertained by Mrs. Ritter's daughter from Long Beach, and A. M. Mapes made a fine speech. Mrs. Rodabaugh had charge of the program.

Miss Jane E. McKee, secretary of Santa Ana club No. 6 writes that her club will give an entertainment tomorrow night in the community hall of the First Christian church at West Sixth street and North Broadway. Mrs. C. E. Stovell and Mrs. E. M. Fuller, are sponsoring the program. Club members are expected to be present and friends are invited. A. M. Mapes, president, will preside over the business meeting, which will be called to order at 7:30 p. m.

Yorba Linda Townsend club will hold its semi-monthly meeting in the social hall of the Methodist Episcopal church tonight beginning at 6:30 with a pot-luck supper, according to Mrs. W. L. Lytle, secretary, who adds that officers will be elected.

FORUM TO HEAR SRA PROBLEMS

"Problems of the SRA" will be discussed at the weekly meeting of the Citizen's forum tomorrow evening by Mrs. Katherine Handley, SRA head in Santa Ana, it was announced today.

Mrs. Handley will be introduced by Jack Snow, county relief head. She will discuss various phases of SRA work affecting local agencies. The Forum will meet as usual in the Unitarian church and will begin at 7:45 p. m.

Bandits Kill Catholic Priest

PEIPING, (AP) — The United States embassy here was informed today that the body of Father Gerard A. Donovan, formerly of Pittsburgh, Pa., had been taken by Japanese artillery truck back to the Catholic Maryknoll mission at Fushun, Manchoukuo, from which he was kidnaped Oct. 5.

The body, found Thursday by Japanese gendarmes near Huaijen, 100 miles southeast of Mukden, was identified by American consular officials and an American Catholic priest who were flown from Mukden to Huaijen by Japanese army plane.

The investigators found Father Donovan had died of strangulation. There were no gunshot wounds.

Father Donovan was kidnaped from the vestry of the mission at Fushun, 30 miles east of Mukden, by Manchurian bandits who demanded $14,500 for his release.

ULTIMATE TEST SEEN FOR U. S.

WILLIAMSBURG, Pa. (AP) — America, so long the "safe home of representative government," is approaching what may prove to be the "ultimate test" of democracy, according to Dr. Francis P. Gaines, president of Washington and Lee university.

Dr. Gaines reviewed the establishment of a representative government at Jamestown in 1619 and its subsequent transfer to Williamsburg in an address before the biennial ceremonial session of the Virginia general assembly in the restored capitol at Williamsburg.

"Standing where these men struggled for the establishment of representative government, we are soberly mindful of the struggle hardly less desperate for the maintenance of representative government," the Washington and Lee president said.

CIVIL SERVICE EXPERT HERE

Mrs. Doris Haney Jones, of Santa Monica, appointed by the Santa Ana civil service commission as administrative consultant, spent the week-end here discussing future plans with Phil Brown, and other members of the local commission.

Mrs. Jones is now en route to Chicago headquarters of the Civil Service assembly of the United States and Canada. She will conduct a civil service survey of the city and county of Milwaukee. She will return to Southern California following completion of the survey.

Women Observe Day of Prayer

Christian women of Santa Ana will join with Christian women all over the world in observing the World's Day of Prayer to take place the first week of Lent.

The Federated Missionary society will sponsor a special program to be held in the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church on Friday, March 4, at 9:45 a. m. The Rev. Cecil M. Aker, pastor of the host church, and the Rev. C. E. Holman, pastor of the First Methodist church, will take part in the program.

NON-SUPPORT CHARGE

Walter Lyon, 22, Long Beach, was arrested on an Orange county non-support warrant yesterday.

SWEETHEARTS TOLD OF SAINTS OF OLD

LOVE AGOG IN MARCH OF TIME

Tries to Pick Right Valentine

By BOB GUILD

Time does wonders. Now doesn't it?

You take St. Valentine's day, a perfectly normal, happy time, traditionally replete with lavender, old lace and homely sentiments. You'd think it was a simple, thing wouldn't you?

BOB GUILD

You'd think St. Valentine had something to do with it, or at least you'd think you could find out who St. Valentine was, or what he stands for, or how come he to be associated with that little naked imp with the bow and arrow.

CAN'T FIND OUT

You can't find out any of those things.

In the first place, there were two St. Valentines. One was a Roman priest, and the other the Bishop of Terne. Both lived during the reign of Emperor Claudius, and just to make the coincidence more confusing, both died on the same day—Feb. 14, 217. And both were buried on Via Flaminia, a short distance apart.

With that as a starter, you can see that the whole picture is somewhat obscured by the vagaries of time and the historians.

CHRISTIAN FEAST

St. Valentine's day began life as a Christian feast day, a holiday in the best sense of the word. Because holiday, of course, means "holy day," and feast day, etc . . .

But how Dan Cupid and all the world's lovers came to be mixed up in things is another matter, not so easy to peg. Most historians, including Dewpoint the Duck, Ramon the Ram, and Vernal Harbinger claim it was all an accident, and I'm inclined to agree with them.

Here are three reasons—you take your pick.

One: The association of the historic lovers' festival with the Feast of St. Valentine (either one or two) came about because both dates fall in early spring, and is purely accidental.

Two: The birds mate on Feb. 14, according to ancient Roman legend. And so.

Three: In ancient Rome they had a cute habit of perforce making all the young men and maidens draw names from a huge bowl on Feb. 14 (or its equivalent) and pairing off for a pagan festival dedicated to the glory of Juno Februalis, from whom February drew its name.

The later explanation seems the best, but it's hard to explain how two perfectly saintly martyrs like Valentine I and Valentine II got mixed up in a pagan festival of that kind.

And a thought in passing.

On the religious calendar Feb. 14 is marked as "Old Candlemas," having to do with the rites of purification of the Virgin, and consecration of the candles to be used in the church during the year. Cupid apparently has nothing to do with that.

"Candlemas" itself, the first of these purification rites, suffered a fate worse than death in the progress of time, coming to be known as Groundhog Day—why, nobody knows.

So there you are. Aren't you?

Two Hurt in Auto Crash

Two persons sustained cuts and bruises in a Santa Ana accident Saturday night when cars driven by Alexander Adams, jr., Los Angeles, and Leland Lyle, Newport and San Juan streets, Tustin, crashed at Santa Ana boulevard and Broadway. Lyle and Eleanor Noble, a passenger in Adams' car were injured.

CAP STOLEN

Theft of a radiator cap from the car he had parked on French street between Second and Third streets was reported Saturday by Herbert Petty, 1805 West Second street.

I Just Found Out

About Valentines

Roses are red; violets are blue.
I'd carry your books, but I'm too bashful to.

That's the valentine sentiment of about 500 Santa Ana fifth graders today as they frolic through recess periods, anxious to catch one of their playmates who's sissy enough to cast a shy glance at the belle of the class. Fifth graders are at the most bashful age, and chances are any valentine greetings between members of that class were conveyed under-cover. Big majority of fifth grade boys—and most other elementary school kids—sent a valentine to their favorite girl today, only trouble being that the one or two cutest girls in each class probably got a lion's share of the lacy sentiment.

Over at high school, however, the sentiment's a little different. Neither boys nor girls are bashful, yet the boys figure valentines are childish, don't dare send them to their feminine friends.

By junior college time, valentines are "high-schoolish" to some students, though a few have gone back to the earlier sentiment, give the "steady" a Valentine's day remembrance. It's less lacy, more practical, like a heart-shaped box of candy, maybe flowers, or some small gift.

Romance takes funny turns down through the grades. First it's serious, then it's nil, then it's serious again and finally it's just fun.

Take a first grader, for instance. He doesn't know much about love, but little Bobby'd feel just as natural playing tag with Mary as he would with Jimmy. And that's more than you can say for him after he gets into high school, gets self-conscious with his first case of puppy love.

Schoolboy love doesn't seem to change much, though a checkup with Santa Ana schools might refresh your memory about the old days, might even point to a few new trends.

Anyway, here it is: No love in the first three grades, where boys and girls are just playmates. They get increasingly bashful as they get into the third grade, and most fourth, fifth and sixth graders don't dare look at classmates of the opposite sex.

* * *

Most of them have a few secret crushes, sometimes tell teacher who they're sending valentines to, and why they're doing it. In the fifth and sixth grades, they'll begin to furtively walk home with each other—but usually it'll be on opposite sides of the street.

* * *

One fourth grade boy and girl have been walking around school practically hand in hand all year, but the case is outstanding, continues to baffle teachers.

Young love takes a new trend in junior high school. Still fairly self-conscious, the boys and girls mostly have fun showing a little more interest in each other. They don't take it seriously, never make ominous plans for the future, but they each primp and show off for the other's benefit.

Junior high school also is the beginning of the razzing age, where any petty romances are met with cheers and kidding, "Johnnie loves Betty" signs painted here and there, and arrow-pierced hearts with interlocked initials. The school paper adequately covers all budding, fully-bloomed and wilting love affairs.

* * *

Violent puppy love—accompanied by loss of appetite, mooning, jealousy, etc.—is at its height in high school. Some of it isn't puppy love, since a pretty fair number of high school romances lead to marriage eventually. Not one in 1000, however, ends with marriage immediately after graduation.

High school is the time girls first realize their powers, are thrilled with outside romances, often go with town or junior college boys. Quite a few of them announce marriage plans before commencement, but such marriages almost invariably are with boys who've been out of school two or three years. Boys aren't ready for marriage when they finish high school.

Love's fun again in junior college, though. Impatient romancers usually drop out after high school, and most jaysee students aren't particularly anxious to be married right away.

About one romance in 25 at junior college ends with a wedding, statistically-minded students figure. Much of the love life by then has narrowed down to single couples, though, and "steadies" are the rule, rather than the exception as in high school.

Young love at jaysee is largely confined to off-campus and after-school, both officials and students insist. Holding hands, walking arm in arm, and such things are tabu on-campus, and only cases that have become alarmingly serious are very apparent.

Most dates are lined up informally at between-class conferences in hallways. Unless it's for something super-special, dates are usually arranged only a day or two in advance.

Major trend in junior college love is added informality and equality. Men now let the women carry their own books, and they don't take their sports together. Football games usually find men going in one group, women in another, then the two meet afterwards.

"Steadies" usually go on single dates, others largely on double dates or in parties. Blind dates are more rare at Santa Ana than at bigger colleges, since each student here knows most of the others. Acquaintances for a big number are arranged through the date bureau, run by Calvin Flint, dean of men, and Mrs. Robert Northcross, dean of women.

Diehard bachelors take the biggest beating when they finally break down, though any well-known athlete who starts going steady is thoroughly razzed by teammates and the campus at large. The monthly humor magazine devotes a page of patter to local romance.

It's rare that a romance begun in elementary school continues on through junior college. A few jaysee couples each year, however, started going together in junior high or as high school freshmen.

* * *

Shiest of all students are those in the three Mexican elementary schools. Fourth grade is the most bashful, and just one or two boys are getting brave enough to look at a girl. They never do it when anyone's looking, and certainly never do after school.

* * *

Mexican grammar school youngsters, teachers find, are terribly afraid of having one of their friends catch them with a girl. The fear's put in them down in the first grade, doesn't leave until the fifth and sixth, where both boys and girls get a little more brave, start writing notes, bashfully walk home together.

* * *

School kids apparently start learning the social graces in junior high school, learn about "true love" in high school, learn about life in junior college.

Farm Center Hear Travel Talk

Ray De Brouwer, who recently returned from a three-months trip to Europe, will be the speaker at Wednesday night's meeting of the Tustin Farm Center, scheduled for 6:30 p. m. in the Tustin High school cafeteria. He will discuss agricultural and economic conditions in northern Europe, President W. W. Tantlinger said.

The entertainment program will feature a one-act play by Santa Ana Junior college students, and dancing by pupils of the Putnam School of Dancing. Members will hold a pot-luck dinner.

BATTERY ARREST

Lloyd Deer, 25, San Juan Capistrano, was booked in the county jail on a battery charge after being arraigned before Justice of the Peace John Landell in San Juan Capistrano. Judge Landell set bail at $100.

COURTHOUSE VALENTINES PRACTICAL

Two distinct types of valentines demanded attention of Orange county's love lorn today.

One variety, costing a dime or fifteen cents complete, overflowed with red hearts and poetical offerings. The other, bereft of colored illustrations and sentimental meter, sold for two dollars, and financially this was only a down payment—ask any married man or woman.

The inexpensive ones secretly whispered romance; their two-dollar apiece cousins shouted matrimony from the courthouse-top. Thousands of the first were purchased in Santa Ana without a record made of their sale. Only 27 of the latter were disposed of, being issued by the marriage license bureau and recorded in the county archives.

Dan Cupid today scanned over the courthouse books, noting with satisfaction the following Orange county residents were among those who received licenses to marry today: Vernon LaFayette and Grace Young Reynolds of Fullerton; Paul D. Caldwell and Zelma Estella Curry of Anaheim; William Charles Lee of Glendale and Dorothy Ozella Yoder of Anaheim; Ervin Lewis Watkins of Laguna Beach and Vera Kathleen McDonald of Irvine.

INQUEST SET IN AUTO DEATH

An inquest into the death early Saturday of Maximino Mercado, 30, San Clemente gardener, was to be conducted from Divel funeral parlor in San Clemente this afternoon, according to Coroner Earl Abbey.

Mercado, the fifteenth victim of fatal traffic accidents on Orange county highways since Jan. 1, died instantly when he assertedly was struck by a car driven by H. T. McCaslin, San Diego.

McCaslin told officers he was driving along the rainswept coast highway at 5:30 a. m. Saturday when Mercado's shadowy form suddenly loomed in front of his car.

Thefts Disclosed At Theater Door

Three Anaheim boys might have got by with a round of thefts Saturday night—if they hadn't tried to sneak into the show.

House Manager Ed Sugden of the West Coast theater here found the boys trying to sneak into the theater, and when he questioned them he said he learned they had several suspicious articles in their possession.

Police were notified, and the three youths admitted stealing from several cars in Anaheim and swiping some fruit from the Grand Central market. They were turned over to Anaheim police.

'Nevermore!'

Petrel Bows Head

"This is duck soup," quacked Dewpoint today. "Duck soup."

"Can I predict 'em, or can I?"

Feeling this was a rhetorical question, the office staff disdainfully refused to answer, while Dewpoint the Duck preened his pinfeathers, gazed skyward and scuffed his rubbers against the boss's desk.

"Awright," said the boss. "Give it to me. What'd you find out on that jaunt to Santiago?"

Dewpoint gazed at the ceiling. "You won't like this," he said, "but here goes. It's a little poem:

"As you were in your office working,
"The facts of the quiet calmly shirking,
"Came a knocking at your door,
"Came a pounding on your door,
"'Twas Dewpoint, quacking 'Nevermore!'

"Nevermore to see the shining sun,
"Nevermore to have your outdoor fun,
"'Cause it's going to rain some more,
"'Cause the sky will drip some more . . .
"Quacks old Dewpoint, 'Bar the door!'"

THEY ALL GOT VALENTINES OF A SORT

By FRANK ORR

Bowlegged under a terrific stack of odd-shaped envelopes and a package marked "perishable" the mailman slithered across the courthouse lobby today.

FRANK ORR

"Valentines," he grunted.

Naturally, there are postal laws, and who wants to go to the clink for reading other people's mail?

But we borrowed Phiske's Phantom Pherret (see sports page, adv.) and put him to work diving in and out of envelopes. When he came up, whiskers full of glue, he reported the following:

There was one addressed to Supervisor John Mitchell (said the Pherret) apparently after Mitchell's complaint about the livestock at the juvenile home. Maybe Judge Ames did it:

Your complaint on the chickens and rabbits
Was because they weren't prolific;
But are you kicking about hog ranches?
The swine, John, are really terrific.

Harry Riley got one, too, perhaps from the Townsend clubs:

We boomed you through the election;
And then you got pally with Sheppard.
We're not kicking now—but for 1940
Your goose is salted and peppered.

Maybe you think you're chairman
But we cut all the ice;
You've got the gavel for one more year
After that, won't it be nice?

There was a black-bordered one for Steele Finley, postmarked "welfare department":

Roses are red,
Violets are blue.
Somebody's running the welfare department.
Who is it, Steele? Not you!

Your administration's a knotty problem
My Townsend pals can't get the gravy.
Please fix this up—because if you don't
I'll call out West and all the navy.

The mailman had to get out his magnifying glass to locate the Phantom Society, which got one postmarked Laguna Beach. Maybe it was West:

You're thugs, you're slick and other things
According to a reliable report.
But something apparently went all wrong,
So I'm afraid you'll see me in court.

We weren't impressed
With your oration.
If we have our way
You can't save the nation.

An ostrich plume, presumably for a cap, was sticking out of one envelope, which was addressed to Assessor Jim Sleeper. The verse was brief:

Dear 'bellwether':
A feather.

Briefest valentine, scrawled on a wad of newsprint, got sent to Sheriff Logan Jackson. His gumshoes are probing for fingerprints. It read:

Goo-bye!

Valentine's Day Meant for Kids As Children Prove

That St. Valentine's day and Christmas are meant primarily for children was more or less proved as far as Valentine's day is concerned, Saturday by a visit to greeting cards counters of the Five and Ten stores on Fourth street and the same counters at Santa Ana's department and stationery stores.

Children and, more children, from wee tots to those approaching man and womanhood, swarmed about the large assortments of valentines offered.

"I want a funny one," one little tow-headed youngster told a clerk at a Five and Ten, "and I want it just as funny as the funnies that come with The Journal once every week, 'cause I want to send it to another kid who thinks he's funnier than the funnies."

He was still poking among the valentines for the extra-funny one when The Journal's Man-About-Town (not Skinny) pulled out with his supply of greetings.

Phantom Flock

Phantom flock, led by Ramon the Ram, and always remembered on Christmas and St. Valentine's day, especially, were recipients of appropriate messages today. For the readers' benefit Frank Orr has listed some of the valentines received by the flock at courthouse in another column on this page.

JOURNAL'S LITERARY GUIDEPOST

By JOHN SELBY

"The Unvanquished," by William Faulkner; (Random House; $2.50).

Those who prefer William Faulkner when he concentrates on hedgerow matings and births in a ditch may be a little disappointed in "The Unvanquished," which to this reader seems close to being the best book he has done so far. Man is a pretty contrary specimen; Mr. Faulkner (Erskine Caldwell too) has seemed a little childish to certain people when occupied with the sport of getting four-letter words past the censor.

Anyway, Mr. Faulkner's great gift is and always will be his ability to make past time into present time. "The Unvanquished" is a superb example of it, even if most of the book came out of the short stories Faulkner has written for a certain reasonably strait-laced magazine. These stories he has set in line, rewritten to some extent, and formed into a continuous narrative, which has a pleasant quality of carelessness, but no lack of force and point.

"The Unvanquished" is about the last years of the War Between the States, of the days when Mississippi was overrun with Yankees, when the slaves were in a ferment to "cross Jordan," and when finally the manor house of the Sartoris clan was burned and Granny, her grandson Bayard, and Ringo, his negro playmate, were left to do the best they could with nothing.

There is an air of gentle incredibility over it all, a warm feeling that one is living through a turbulent period in good company, and a fine narrative are in the book.

Big Bear Closed By Heavy Snows

The local office of the Automobile Club of Southern California announced today that snow on Clark's grade has closed the Redlands-Big Bear lake road by way of Mill creek as a through route.

It was also announced that the San Bernardino-Camp Baldy road, by way of Glenn ranch is closed by snow over the summit.

College Magazine Circulates 300

Vernal Harbinger

Valentine's day means a lot to Vernal because on this day she quickens to call of Spring and everything that goes with the "growing season."

Vernal hasn't been making any trouble lately.

No outraged citizens have reported her trampling their flower beds. No garbage men have even complained of her tin-can consumption.

But now the love light is back in Vernal's eyes. Valentine's day is the beginning of spring for Vernal, and authorities figure she'll be back to her old tricks before long.

Watch for Vernal in the police reports.

ANNUAL LOAN DRIVE SET BY JAYSEE

Phi Theta Kappa, Santa Ana Junior college scholastic society, today begins preparatory measures for launching its annual student loan fund drive. The goal is set at $100.

Each year the scholastic society conducts such a campaign. The campaign will get under way Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 21 and 22, according to Fred Dierker, president of the local chapter.

PRIZES OFFERED

The members hope to raise the money by voluntary contributions from jaysee students and faculty. A number of prizes will be offered to the classes which contribute the most toward the benefit, Dierker announced.

Several of the campus service clubs have been aiding in the benefit by conducting food sales the past week. Other events are now being planned. All profits from these events will be donated to the fund.

Many private individuals and city service clubs and other organizations have assisted in drives for funds in the past.

MANY STUDENTS AIDED

Originated in 1922, the student loan fund has made it possible for numerous jaysee students to go on to school by forwarding loans in amounts up to $300. The money is payable two years after graduation, after which time an interest rate of 4 per cent is charged.

In 1937, the loan fund made it possible for 17 stndents to continue their higher education. A total of $3716.66 was loaned during the entire year.

'Y' BOOK SALE SHOWS PROFIT

Miss Helen Hicks, chairman of the book sale project at Santa Ana Junior college announces that approximately $90 has been realized by the Y. M. C. A. bookstore this semester.

The profit, she said, would total not more than $7 because the balance had been paid students who sold the books.

The purpose of the bookstore is to benefit students who wish to buy or sell used textbooks. It remains open until Wednesday.

Assisting Miss Hicks are Stella Christ, Lois Oursler, Pauline Cave, Ruth Budd and Ruth Sato.

$40 Worth of Bad Checks Passed

Fictitious checks totaling more than $40 were passed on three Santa Ana merchants last week, it was learned Saturday when the checks "bounced."

Biggest of the checks was for $18.13, passed on a dress shop in payment for a $6.95 dress and a $1.95 house dress. It was made out to O. R. Turner and signed by M. Vanderberg. The two other checks were made to different persons but both were signed by Vanderberg.

Betrothal Is Revealed By Valentine

A frilly quaint Valentine of red hearts and lace ruffles that bore pictures of Miss Marjorie Walton of Santa Ana and Charles Bush of Anaheim was the means of announcing their forthcoming wedding of April 17 when two close friends of the bride-elect, Mrs. Merle M. Hall and Mrs. Leonard E. Echols, entertained yesterday afternoon at a formal tea.

The attractive home of the latter was setting for the affair with masses of lovely flowers being highlighted by the striking tea-table decorations, which consisted of masses of flowers in a fountain arrangement, with talisman roses showering from the lovely composition. Wedding bells surrounded the flowers, and presiding at the table were Miss Jessie Carter and Miss Edith Stanley, Miss Daisy Carr and Mrs. Harold Fish assisted the hostess in serving the guests, who called between 2 and 6 o'clock.

Miss Walton was graduated from Santa Ana junior college and has been connected for some time with the trust department of the First National bank. Her fiance is associated with the McCoy Motor company of Anaheim. Their wedding in April will be a formal event at the Melrose Abbey chapel, it was revealed.

Guests were Miss Laura Harding, Miss Opal Davis, Mrs. Mary Stanley, Miss Edna Gammell, Miss Elva Wefel, Miss Pauline Tyler, Mrs. LeRoy Burns, Miss Hazel Hardin, Miss Katherine Spicer, Mrs. C. L. Pritchard, Mrs. Lucius Conkey, Mrs. Carleton Smith, Mrs. Paul V. Eby, Miss Frances Hill, Mrs. Frank Curran, Mrs. George Peterson, Mrs. Gene Hitt, Miss Georgia Belle Walton.

Mrs. T. E. McLeod, Miss Leone Baxter, Miss Anne Detweiler, Miss Dorothy Jessee, Miss Jeannette Liekhus, Miss Lenore McFarren, Miss Irene Ross, Miss Bette Vorce, Miss Daisy Carr, Miss Mary Bowyer, Miss Adeleine Loptien, and Mrs. Charles Bush, Mrs. A. Halsell, Mrs. John Holme, and Miss Marjorie Clark of Anaheim, Mrs. Grover Spray of La Habra.

TUSTIN GROUP HEARS FORCEFUL ADDRESS

Miss Ethel Hubler, forceful national temperance speaker, talked on the failures of repeal at the luncheon meeting of Tustin W. C. T. U. held Friday afternoon in the Tustin Presbyterian church. Approximately 60 members and guests were present.

"Repeal has not done away with the bootlegger and we have a saloon now, worse than we had in the old days. Now they are called cocktail lounges, taverns and beer parlors, and the women and girls patronize them along with the men and boys. Fathers and mothers should set the right example for their children. The battle against booze is the fight of every man who loves his home, church and country," advised the fiery speaker. She told of numerous local option victories in Kentucky and elsewhere during the past year.

A one-act skit, "Domesticated Papas," was presented by Jack Wood and Bill Keeton and a reading, "For Distinguished Service," was given by Miss Betty Jane Moore, all Santa Ana Junior college young people. Miss Patsy Williams entertained with two vocal solos, with her mother, Mrs. Lewis Williams, accompanying at the piano. Miss Anna May Archer gave 'cello solos, with Miss Audrey Pieper as accompanist.

Mrs. Cora Torrens, president, presided and announced the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Sarah M. G. Brown, March 11.

Program chairmen were Mesdames A. M. Robinson, C. A. Miller, William A. Hazen and Miss Marjorie Rawlings.

STONES ARE DINNER HOSTS

A delightful little dinner party was given Saturday evening at Daniger's by Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Stone. Later they and their guests went to the Stone home at 2515 North Park boulevard for contract bridge.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Holtinger of Altadena, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Whitney of Pasadena and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Pettitt of Balboa Island.

Book Review of the Week

By MOLLY HARVEY

Review of "I Speak for the Chinese" by Carl Crow

(Courtesy Santa Ana Public Library)

Carl Crow, who only this fall published the widely read "400 Million Customers," has written a most timely and informative summary of policies and events leading up to the present Sino-Japanese crisis. Though very brief, only 82 pages, his book is packed with facts little known or understood by the general public and offers an excellent means of clarifying the all too hazy conception most of us have in regard to the situation in the Orient.

Mr. Crow is peculiarly fitted to tell this story of Japan's felonous infringements on China as he has lived in the Orient for the last 25 years, part of which time he was a United Press correspondent and had unusual sources of material mysteriously open to him. In addition he has delved deeply into the records of the last three decades and is able to authenticate any statement he makes. While he tries to explain the psychological makeup of the Japanese, which accounts for their devious and secretive military aggression, the author is definitely sympathetic to the Chinese cause.

"In carrying out her program of encroachment on China, Japan has always timed her moves so that they would attract the least possible attention." According to the author, this policy began as long ago as 1915 when the eyes of the world were centered on the death-struggle in Europe. In May of that year Japan presented to China, then weak and corrupt, the now famous "Twenty-one Demands."

These demands ammounted in effect to the establishment of a protectorate which would lead by easy steps to the complete domination of China by Japan. They included that China formally recognize Japan's "rights" in Shantung, Manchuria, and Inner Mongolia; said rights assumed on the most intangible grounds.

China was to give Japan control of its largest arsenal, lease to Japan all harbors along the coast of Fukien Province, entrust to Japan the training of her army and navy, employ Japanese experts for the reorganization of her finances, and allow Japan to open schools in all parts of the country for the teaching of the Japanese language. Although that particular crisis was passed, Japan did not withdraw any of her stipulations and "The Twenty-one Demands have remained the textbook and formula of Japan's policy in China."

Mr. Crow believes that Japan is sincere in her attempt to destroy the existing civilization of China and replace it with Japanese culture. Moreover, the Japanese feel they have a real mission to perform on this earth, namely, the remodeling of the world's civilization along superior Japanese lines.

This is not such rash impertinance as it would seem on the surface when you consider the marvelous progress which the country has made in the last century. The Japanese themselves deem it a miracle, due to the influence of their emperor, who after all is a divinity. The book ends with three appaling words, "After China, what?"

NEW CLUB JUDGES PRINTS AT MEETING

The remainder of the evening was spent in a discussion of photographs, and the judging of prints submitted by the members for the day's topic, "Roads." A print by Verne Wilson, "Eucalyptus Lane," won first prize, while Norman Daschner won second with "Twilight Road."

The next meeting will be held on March 4, and the meeting place will be announced later. The topic then will be "Trees" and Ivie Stein will speak to the group. All people interested in joining the camera club are invited to call the secretary, Bob Biles at 2365-J.

MRS. BRADEN IS REPRESENTATIVE

Mrs. J. E. Braden, 805 South Garnsey street, represented the Allentown, Pa., chapter of Lambda Tau Delta national sorority at the Los Angeles chapter pledge degree and formal banquet at the Chapman Park hotel in Los Angeles Friday night.

Fifteen girls were pledged to the chapter. Mrs. Braden founded the Allentown chapter several years ago and retains her membership in that group.

Belgium has the greatest density of population of any European county.

DISTRICT HEADS WILL CONFER THURSDAY

Fourth district P.-T. A. presidents will confer next Thursday, Feb. 17, in Anaheim at the First Presbyterian church of that city, with Mrs. H. B. Henry of Glendale, state chairman of parent education, as main speaker.

Mrs. Henry will also conduct a conference for all local P.-T. A. education chairmen attending. A panel discussion directed by the health leader, Mrs. W. T. Kirven of Garden Grove, who is state chairman of physical hygiene, will take up part of the day and Mrs. R. W. Marvin of Anaheim, state chairman of radio education, will give a talk on the "Importance of Radio in Education."

Presidents of P.-T. A. locals in this district will report on their projects for the year. Mrs. W. E. Krup of Fullerton, first vice president of the Fourth district will preside in the absence of the president, Mrs. H. C. Drown of Santa Ana, who is ill this week.

MISS CUMMINGS IS HOSTESS

The guests spent the evening in informal chatting, and plans to form an art craft club were made. The group agreed to meet on March 4 in the home of Mrs. Verne Wilson. Present for the party were Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Norman Daschner, Mrs. Ira Wissner, Miss Cora Cummings, and Miss Jane Moore of Fullerton.

FOUNDER'S DAY IS PLANNED

Lathrop school P.-T. A. founders' day program, in charge of Mrs. James Givens, will be held Feb. 22 at 2:30 p. m. in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Rufus Bond will be in charge of the annual candle-lighting ceremony.

Mrs. R .E. Steinberger, social chairman, will plan the social hour to follow the program. Four tables representing the four seasons of the year will be set and guests will be seated according to their birthday months.

Holiday Idea Carried Out At Party

Serving as an introduction to new friends and a reunion with former acquaintances made when she visited here years ago was the delightful luncheon party given to compliment Mrs. Frederick Helwig of Long Beach by Mrs. F. E. Slabaugh Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Slabaugh and Mrs. Helwig were close friends in Omaha, Neb., many years ago, and the latter has been a houseguest of Dr. and Mrs. Slabaugh several times since.

Lincoln's birthday anniversary provided a gay theme for the clever hostess, who used red, white and blue in every table appointment. Lovely blue crystal service, blue primula, and gay patriotic-hued tallies and place-cards were augmented by a jaunty flag-topped log-cabin fashioned of brown bread and cream cheese, which centered the buffet. Early American recipes and the same colors were carried out in the delicious luncheon menu.

Later contract was played in the living-room, which was given added beauty by the lovely pink camelias, stock, and other blossoms sent Mrs. Slabaugh by Mrs. William Otis, Mrs. C. F. Smith and Mrs. M. E. LeSourd. Mrs. Clarence Gustlin won high score prize and Mrs. Helwig was presented with a guest prize.

Guests of Mrs. Slabaugh were Mrs. Helwig, Mrs. LeSourd, Mrs. Gustlin, Mrs. Otis, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Grace Lyon, Mrs. T. E. Stephenson, Mrs. J. E. Liebig, Mrs. O. H. Egge, Mrs. John Bowers, Mrs. E. D. White, Mrs. L. F. Moulton, Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mrs. C. B. Diehl and Mrs. W. L. Grubb.

AMBER CIRCLE GIVES DINNER FOR OFFICERS

Amber Circle gave a noon dinner party for 75 guests Thursday honoring this year's officers who were seated at a long table in the Masonic Temple which was beautifully decorated in a Valentine theme with large crepe paper hearts hung on standards down the center of the table.

Crystal candle holders with long red tapers were used and asparagus fern runners with heart shaped flowers ran the length of the table. Place cards made of double hearts on small standards also served for tallies when the guests played bridge later in the afternoon.

Leather embossed O. E. S. receipt holders were special favors at each place. These had gold corners and bore the emblem of the Masonic Temple of Washington, D. C., and on the cover a star in its colors. Vera Jacoby was chairman of the dining room committee and was assisted by the Mesdames Anna Kester, Lena Hoyt, Emma Gammell, Edith Fairfield, Cornelia Harwood, Ida May Goodwin, Belle Dobson, Anna James, Doris Richardson and Alice Pannell.

Officers honored at the party and seated at the officers' table were the Mesdames Helen Lurker, Clara Seaber, Dolly Pope, Veda Barry, Marguerite Cave, Pearl Livesey, Agnes Lindig, Edith Hancock, Edna Sweet, Zeta Edmunds, Edith Snow, Faye Minnix, Lillian McBurney and Estelle Workman.

The group retired to the lounge for a meeting following dinner with Mrs. Una Miller, presiding. Guests introduced to the members were Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Berger of Winfield, Iowa; Mrs. Margaret Haldridge of Glendale; the Mesdames Ernest Machander, Hattie Hogan and Anna M. Smith, and Mrs. C. F. Hibbard of Omaha, Neb.

Prizes at bridge were awarded in contract to Mildred Taylor, high, and Irene Mitchell, low, and in auction to Elizabeth Lewis, high, and Hattie Stowe, low. A sewing prize went to Ida May Goodwin.

GOLDEN STATE, R. N. A. PLAN DANCE

Oracle Nellie Baker conducted the regular meeting of the Golden State R. N. A. held Wednesday evening, when plans were formulated for a dance to be held Feb. 23 in lieu of the next meeting. Grace Gross' orchestra will be engaged to play for the affair which will take place in the K. of C. hall.

Refreshments were served following the meeting by a committee of three, Mrs. Maxie Wilson, John Baker and Ray Boyd. A delegation from Santa Ana will attend the district meeting to be held in Fullerton the night of Feb. 22.

Announcement of the next Golden State Luncheon club meeting was made. Mrs. Lena Pope of 706 S. Van Ness street will be hostess to the club March 4, and at this time names of the "mystery sisters" will be revealed.

RADDANTS GIVE CHARMING DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Raddant chose the colorful Valentine motif to give beauty to their table Friday evening when they entertained at a delightful dinner party in their home at 512 Normandy place. A crystal bowl of scarlet carnations and white stock was emphasized by harmonizing tapers.

In contract games later, high score prizes were awarded Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Crowell.

Invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lyle B. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Scouller, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harness, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Taylor of Fullerton, Dr. and Mrs. Cassius Paul, Dr. and Mrs. Milo Tedstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mock and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harrison.

Pyke-Forster Betrothal Is Told

When Mr. and Mrs. W. Dean Johnston entertained in their lovely home, 2445 North Park boulevard, on Saturday evening, it was to announce the engagement of Miss Cleo Pyke to Frank Forster of San Juan Capistrano, and to tell of the forthcoming nuptials between the attractive honor guest and the scion of one of the county's oldest families.

The affair was colorful with gay red hearts carrying out the appropriate valentine motif. The rooms were decorated with lovely bouquets of red ranunculi and white stock.

Refreshments served on small tables were heartshaped ices, and Mrs. Johnston presented the Miss Pyke with a large red heart box filled with candy. This, when opened, showed a red candy heart on which was a cupid, and the names, "Cleo and Frank."

Guests at the affair were the bridegroom-to-be, Frank Forster, his grandmother, Mrs. Frank Marco Forster, and his stepmother, Mrs. Tom Forster, all of San Juan Capistrano; Miss Vivian Forster and Miss Melita Forster of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Comp, Tustin; Whitney Halliday, Joe Oppliger, Miss Carolyn Ryan, Miss Martha Jane Wight, all of Santa Ana; Bob McFarren, Anaheim, Frank Jackson, Long Beach; Miss Ruth Curran, Richard Wright, Miss Elaine McReynolds, Miss Jo Flaherty, and Mrs. Fred Nelson, also of Santa Ana.

OLD FASHIONED PARTIES GIVEN BY SWANNERS

Dual parties, both among the most brilliant and colorful parties of the season, were hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanner when they entertained friends in their East Seventeenth street home on Friday and Saturday evenings.

Mrs. Swanner had sent out the dinner invitations in her own original design, picturing a horse and buggy and a lantern showing the way to the home, for the affairs were old-fashioned parties. Mr. Swanner greeted the guests at the door with a lantern, and the house was lighted with candles and old fashioned lamps.

An early dinner was served to the guests each time, with the large table covered with red and white checked tablecloth and old-fashioned crockery as the service.

All the guests wore old costumes, with the ladies in beautiful gowns of silk, velvet and brocade and the men in tails. The only modern note in the evening's entertainment was the game of contract. High scores at Friday's party were won by Mrs. Lyle Anderson and Dr. Harvey Spears. On Saturday evening, the awards went to Mrs. Lester Tubbs and Wendell Finley.

Each of the guests on both evenings carried home a gift of a grocery package, distributed as progressive prizes during the contract game. The two amusing affairs were the beginning of a pleasant series that will be given during the spring by the Swanners.

SHOWER IS COMPLIMENT TO RECENT BRIDE

A bridal china shower and bridge party honoring Mrs. Robert Ennis, a Santa Ana bride of recent weeks, who was the former Miss Betty Woods, was given by Mrs. D. W. Kelsey at her home, 401 South Artesia street, Friday evening.

Floral and table decorations were carried out in a gold and white color scheme by the hostess who used white stock, snapdragons and sweet peas, and white tapers in gold candle holders on tables covered in white: The Valentine motif was carried out in the refreshments served by Mrs. Kelsey.

Miss Evelyn Fairley was awarded the prize for high score at bridge and Mrs. R. T. McDonald received consolation prize. Mrs. Howard Sawdey, mother of the hostess, assisted her in serving refreshments.

Present were the Mesdames Nell Woods, mother of the guest of honor, C. E. Crumrine, jr., sister of the bride, Roy Wheeler, Garth Olson, Minor Whitford, J. M. Campbell, Paul Reynolds, all of Santa Ana and Mrs. R. T. McDonald of Anaheim; the Misses Marian Hawk, Jeanne Paxton, Hazel Oliphant, Evelyn Fairley, Dee Pettit, Frances Roberts, Alberta Sanford, and Irene Ross all of Santa Ana, the Misses Margaret Ragsdale, Alice Stoner, and Suzanne Clark of Orange, the Misses Audrey McDonald and Marjory Wakeham of Garden Grove, the Misses Betty Urquhart and Helen Logue of Los Angeles and Miss Harriett Crumrine of San Juan Capistrano.

MISS FRANDSON ENTERTAINS POT-LUCK GROUP

Miss LaVonne Frandson, opened her home, 2003 North Ross street, to Santa Ana Junior college coeds Friday evening, when 12 members met at 6 o'clock for the weekly pot-luck supper.

Instead of leaving as soon as the supper was eaten, the group adjourned to the living room and spent the evening playing bridge. A few attended a late show or the dance after discussions were held on various subjects.

Those present included Miss Gloria Kirchner and her sister Miss Louise, Miss Jane Austin, Miss Virginia Sheppard, Miss Catherine Eklund, Miss Betty Timmons, Miss Elaine McReynolds, Miss Eleanor Cogan, Miss Jean McDonald, Miss Jo Butler, Miss Aloen Miller, the hostess Miss Frandson, and her mother Mrs. E. C. Frandson.

Young Man Searching Real Friends Finds People Avoid Him and Wonders Why

The eternal "Why?" It confronts me dozens of times a day on as many different problems from strangers. Sometimes I am able to read between the lines of these penned heart throbs and make a fairly good guess as to what is most wrong in "the scheme of things" in the small world of this correspondent or that. At other times I am plainly puzzled. For instance, the following letter from a young man of 31 is a sort of contradiction:

Dear Miss Stoddard: I am not in the habit of writing to anyone for advice, but I am lonesome and I can't understand why. Perhaps you may be able to discover something in my letter that will give you a clue, but to make sure I will try and give you a brief outline of myself as I see myself.

I am 31 years old, always try to be polite and unselfish to others. I love outdoor sports, skiing, skating, tennis, golf and swimming, but all my acquaintances don't seem to share my likes, but prefer rather, to dance and have booze parties. I have tried to make their pleasures my pleasures, but I do not enjoy it. That is not the point however. It is that even this class of people do not seem to want my company. I don't know why. I find it so hard to make friends. I am not bad looking, perhaps some may even think me good-looking. I am rather in poor financial circumstances and my education was not very complete, but people seem to want to avoid me. I can't seem to think I bore them as I always try to find out what they are interested most in and try and become enthusiastic over their likes, but not to the point of being a "yes" man. I don't want the advice of your readers as I am afraid of too many different opinions are apt to confuse me the more.

Perhaps you will say I feel sorry for myself, but honestly you are the only person I have ever told my feelings to. I always have a smile for everyone and love in my heart for my fellow being, but I want friends, real friends, so I hope you can help me. Thanks.

LONESOME.

Another poet by the name of Marquis comes to swell my list of California poets.

Neeta Marquis has written beautiful verse for years and is now teaching classes in poetry and short story writing at the Los Angeles and Hollywood Evening High schools.

FROM THE DESERT'S EDGE

How strange this longing for the call of rain!
Often at night I tell myself I hear
The far faint signalling. But when I strain
To catch the fluent note against my ear;
To feel the freshness of the full soft plash;
To smell the humid scent which is earth's prayer—
I find it only wind and palm leaves' clash,
Or drought-seared boughs conferring in despair,
Or flecks of sand that whip my window-sash:
No ease of moisture on the arid air
Like sleep on eyelids corrugate with pain;
Oh, for the silver clemency of rain!

"WESTWAYS."

THE GATE CALLED WEST

"O Odysseus, speak not comfortably to me of death!"
Achilles, The Odessey.
They shrank from death, those ancients Homer knew,
They worshipped toward the East aflame with day,
Whatever stress impelled their hearts to pray,
Whatever token symbolized the True.
Dawns, births, beginnings—these devoutly drew
Their homage; but at fall of evening-grey,
Forlorn with dread they turned dim eyes away,
Afraid to watch the light dissolve from view.

But One came, entering by the Eastern gate—
As mortals must — Who wistful souls of men
Delivered from the rule of pulseless Fate.
As death's dark sill He crossed—and crossed again!—
Fear's shadow lifted from the gate called West.
He had revealed it as the door to rest.

"YOUTHS COMPANION."

YACHT CLUB DINNER-DANCE ENJOYED

Celebrating the inauguration of a series of spring and seasonal activities at the Balboa Yacht club Saturday evening were two groups of Santa Anans.

Formal attire added to the pleasure of the affair, for which a Valentine motif was used. Following dinner, dancing was enjoyed to the music of a Negro orchestra.

Guests of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Haiber were Dr. and Mrs. C. V. Doty, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Featherly, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sandon, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Kyle, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Wright, Mr. and Mrs. George Omohundro, Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson, and Mr. and Mrs. James Scudder.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Young were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Laury Roehm, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Maier, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lurker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leimer, Mrs. Elizabeth Speich of Texas, T. J. Reifel of Ontario, Miss May Barker of Los Angeles, Keith Davis, and David Jellis.

EBELL FASHION TEA HELPERS NAMED

She named her ticket chairman this week, and since the appointment Mrs. Quentin Matzen, who is filling the position in capable fashion, has named her fellow-workers. They include Mrs. Thomas Rhone, Mrs. Raymond Harvey, Mrs. James Merigold, Mrs. Russell Sullivan, Mrs. George Peterson, Mrs. Richard Ewert, Mrs. Charles McDaniel, Mrs. Stanley Norton, Mrs. H. Raymond Smith, Miss Marian Brownridge, and Misss Pat Oliphant.

At the same time Mrs. Dale announced that Mrs. Thomas Geoghegan, jr. (Lolita Mead) would superintendent the candy sale that is one feature of the party, which will be given March 19 at the Ebell clubhouse.

TO MEET WEDNESDAY

The Northeast section of the First Presbyterian Ladies' Aid will meet at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the church fellowship room. Members are asked to bring calendars with dimes, as these must be in by March 16.

Miss Spicer Feted With Crystal

Mrs. F. E. Coulter and Mrs John Tessmann united in hostess duties last evening to compliment Miss Katherine Spicer, popular bride-elect, with a delightful crystal shower in the home of Mrs. Coulter at 82f South Ross street.

Miss Spicer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin H. Spicer, 2415 North Main street, will become the bride of Arthur Flint of San Pedro in April. Guests at the party were Miss Spicer's sorority sisters of Beta Sigma Phi, who united in presenting the honor guest with sets of oyster cocktail and sherbet glasses in Bohemian glass.

Valentines formed the appropriate motif for the party, with the table covered with a lace cloth over red tulle. An arrangement of red and white flowers and red tapers in silver holders centered the table.

A supper menu was served early in the evening, and later the guests gathered about the big fire. Miss Elsie Siemsen and Miss Delphina Lopez assisted the two hostesses in serving, and Miss Beulah May, sponsor, was an honored guest. Both Mrs. Coulter and Mrs. Tessmann are honorary members of the sorority.

Included among the guests, in addition to Miss May, were Mrs. Robert Callis, Mrs. Sam Cash, Mrs. William Long, Mrs. Donald Ribeau, Mrs. Robert Windolph, Mrs. Newell Moore, Mrs. Jesse Parks, and the Misses Katherine Spicer, Lois Taylor, Margaret Wilson, Catherine Walbridge, Pally Angne, Katherine Chapman, Jean Ema, Mary Ford, Lillie Forsberg, Marie LaBrucherie, Hazel Lee, Delphina Lopez, Lucy McDermott, Lillian McDonald, Elsie Siemsen, Isabel Siracusa, Ruth Stephenson, Mary Louise Wallace, and Lena May Willsey.

GAY NINETIES PARTY IS ENJOYABLE

Inspired by the lacy frills of a gay nineties valentine, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Harvey and Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Lewis entertained at a delightful "period" party over the week-end in the Harvey home at 806 Lacy street.

When guests arrived in costumes of "The Mauve Decade" they found a living-room and bedroom completely transformed into the typical setting of the time, with whatnots, oil portraits, a standing easel, a Turkish cozy-corner, rag rugs and kerosene lamps among the amusing decorations. Later a lap-supper climaxed the gay evening, for which game awards were won by Mrs. Gerald English, Mrs. James Workman, James Musick, and Louis Shannon.

Guests of the Harveys and the Lewises were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shannon, Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Kent, Mr. and Mrs. James Musick, Mr. and Mrs. James Workman, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald English, all of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Workman of Orange, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Vance of Garden Grove.

BON VOYAGE PARTY HONORS MRS. PRITCHARD

Plans of Mrs. Charles Pritchard to leave on Feb. 19 for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. George Glover in Hilo, Hawaii, were incentive for a gay and informal bon voyage party in the home of Mrs. Herbert Alleman, 202 West Eighteenth street, Saturday evening.

A dessert course was served early in the evening at a cleverly decorated table. Nutcups were in the form of ships and a tiny silver boat was sailing on a blue mirror sea. Around the centerpiece were pretty shells and dolls brought from the Samoan Islands by the hostess' son Victor recently.

Lovely bouquets of ranunculi and stocks had been sent to the hostess by Mrs. Harold Wahlberg and Mrs. Pritchard, and were used in decorating. A special feature of the evening was the presentation of a tiny white tree on which were pinned dainty linen handkerchiefs for the guest of honor. She was also given a lovely lei of flowers.

Each of the desserts held a lighted candle as a reminder that the day of the party was Lincoln's birthday. Prizes for the contract game were awarded to Mrs. Olive Walsh for high, Mrs. Bradley Smith for second, and Mrs. Cotton Mather for progressive.

Guests bidden to the affair were Mrs. Pritchard, Mrs. Olive Walsh of Los Angeles, Mrs. Rena Bouchard of Tustin, Mrs. C. W. Harrison, Mrs. Cotton Mather, Mrs. Orson Hunter, Mrs. Bradley Smith, Mrs. Lansing Hill, Mrs. Harold Wahlberg, Mrs. C. E. Dowds, Mrs. Clarence Gustlin, Mrs. E. C. Erwin, Mrs. John Lacy Taylor, and Mrs. R. D. Flaherty.

Mrs. Alleman was also hostess earlier this month when she entertained with a birthday dinner party for her son Victor on his 18th anniversary. The guests joined to buy him a horn for his car.

Included in the party were Brent Wahlberg, Glen Layton, Stanley Sebastian, Fred Blauer, Roy Corey, Bill Bouchard, Howard Moore of Orange, and Alden and Victor Alleman.

EASTERN STAR OFFICERS ARE ENTERTAINED

Distinguished Eastern Star officers of 1937 were entertained at a lovely dinner party at the home of Mrs. F. B. Edwards of East Chapman avenue, Orange, Friday evening. Mrs. Edwards, last year's deputy matron for the 60th district, and Mrs. Ruth McLaughlin of Buena Park, past deputy matron for district 59, were co-hostesses.

The dinner party was a celebration honoring the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Cooper of Sacramento who drove south for the event. Mrs. Cooper was 1937 state grand matron of O. E. S. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cruz of Los Angeles were also special guests as Mr. Cruz was last year's state grand patron.

Two other guests were Mrs. Gladys Scarlett of Grimes and Mrs. Jean Hann of Sacramento who were both worthy matrons of 1937. Pastel sweet peas were used on the table and pastel tapers in candelabra served two purposes, as they were used for table decorations and later presented to the guests as favors.

BUFFET SUPPER SERVED IN NEW HOME

Abandoning plans for a fencing bee because of the inclement weather, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guild yesterday entertained a group of friends at a buffet supper party.

The informal affair was a housewarming inspired by their moving into a new home at 202 Nineteenth street. Lovely rosebuds sent by Mrs. Frank Fiske, vivid sweetpeas from Mrs. Claude Brakebill, and camelias from Mrs. Calvin Flint added color to the rooms.

Assisting in hostess duties were Mrs. George Walker and Mrs. Wayne Harrison, and at the close of the spaghetti dinner served buffet style in the kitchen, a surprise shower of household gifts was staged.

Guests present were the George Walkers, the Wayne Harrisons, the Leland Finleys, the Calvin Flints, the Crawford Nalles, the Frank Fiskes, the Braden Finches, the Philip McVickers, the Ray Tarrs, the Claude Brakebills, the Robert Millers, the George Spielmans, and the Harold Dales.

HOUSEHOLD SECTION

The Sixth Household Economics section of Ebell will meet in the clubhouse for a 12:30 p. m. luncheon on Friday, Feb. 18. Those unable to attend are asked to notify one of the hostesses, Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks, at 5631-J; Mrs. P. L. Warren, at 5714-W, and Miss Lyda Crookshank, at 2199.

STUDIO SNOOPIN'

By TOM E. DANSON

He who stoopeth to snoop, breaketh into the movies. Yes sir! That's exactly what happened to your truly yesterday. Went up to snoop the George Jessel show in Hollywood, held in the Filmarte theater on Vine street, and as a result my Pepsodent smile will be seen coast to coast. It all happened like this. George had the famous race horse Play May, (you know, the one that helped all of the poor people a couple of weeks ago, or at least helped all who had a ticket on her, by bringing $673.40 for a $2.00 toss), on his program, and the newsreel men got wind of it, and came a flying over to the theater. At the same time I happened to be talking to George for some dope to sling to all youse guys and gals, so was invited to participate in the fun. Before getting into this scene of very strenuous acting (standing still for about two minutes) I was asked if I had a union card. Not knowing just what to exactly say, I asked if anything pertaining to union would do, as I did want to get in on this, and the answer was all right, show your union affiliation. When I replied that I couldn't very well, the questions began to fly thick and fast, so I had to admit that my union association, was only that of a union suit . . . oh me, well any way so much for the movies.

Now for a little bit about the show itself. I believe that it's the first time a race horse has actually appeared on a radio program but it was very doubtful at first as to how well behaved she would be. With all of the cameras and flashlight bulbs making blinding flashes, the poor horse was not enjoying her radio debut. There was only one thing phoney about the whole deal, and that was the talking to the horse and hear a whinney as a come-back. That was done by sound effect records. The show as a whole was good and more power to Jessel for his efforts to give the public good clean wholesome entertainment.

George and his partner in gags, Sam Carlton, write all of the stuff used on the program. Carlton has been with Jessel as long as he can remember.

Here's something else that interested me. This show is a cooperative affair, with, at the present time 21 sponsors, all over the country, and when it comes time to make a commercial announcement, Tommy Tucker's band just plays along and the local announcers all over the good old U. S. give their plugs for their territory, some for shoes in one territory, maybe one for beans in another. That is some stunt, and George reports that he is striving to make six such programs possible, well lots of luck.

The little girl that sings so well, age 7½ years, is Josephine Starr. Her real name is Josephine Sitjar, which, if pronounced correctly in the Philippine tongue sounds like Starr, so that is her adopted name. She sings in five different languages, and also plays the piano and violin, and as you have probably guessed by this time, is a cute little Philippine girl.

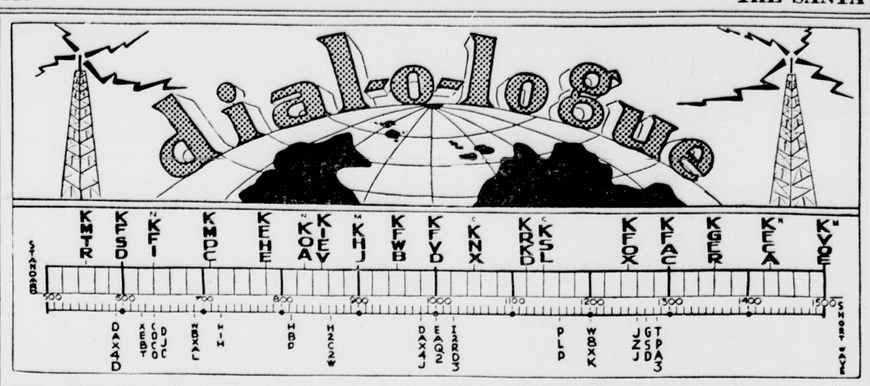

Met Jerry Olenick and Murry Weintraub, whom I enjoyed talking to very much, and who have promised me some good publicity in the form of scoops in the future. I would, however, like to call them down for one thing. In some publicity they gave me yesterday, a certain section of it is wrong, and that is this. They have that; "The 'Aristocats' name has been spelled 'Aristocrats', and 'Aristocads' etc, in fact every way but the right way, so the swing chorus heard on the Oakie show is looking for a new nom d'air." Well boys, from a point of good authority that name is "Sophisti-Cats" so you'd better check your records again.

At last Herbie Kay is happy again . . . he will join Mrs. Kay (who is Dorothy Lamour) in Hollywood March 15th, for their little session at the Cocoanut Grove.

As is always the case, I enjoyed very much my chat with Pauline Swanson, who is doing publicity with Tom Fizdale Co., on the west coast.

Well, I've said too much already, so until the next Snoopin', so long everybody.

Air Minded, Stand By!

By TOM E. DANSON

● Stand by for "Howie Wing" . . . KVOE's new saga of aviation makes its formal bow to West Coast radio lanes this evening at 5:45, when the transcribed series for youngsters is presented on KVOE and the Don Lee Network of 26 stations. The program will be a regular feature four times a week, Monday through Thursday, at the same hour.

● Ginger Rogers and Douglas Fairbanks, jr., return to the Lux Radio Theater tonight to co-star in S. N. Behrman's "Brief Moments," the romance of a millionaire and a dancing girl.

Cecil B. DeMille, as usual, directs the full-hour dramatic broadcast over the KNX Columbia network at 6 p. m.

In the story, Miss Rogers, making her third appearance behind the Radio Theater footlights, plays the role of Abby Fane, vibrant young night club singer and dancer.

● Of interest to all school children, parents and teachers, will be the first of a new series of broadcasts from KVOE tomorrow morning at 9:30 to be made in cooperation with Orange county schools. The broadcasts, under the direction of Mabel S. Spizzy, director of the music department, will be listened to by all Orange county grade schcools.

The broadcasts will be scheduled exclusively from KVOE every Tuesday morning at the same hour.

● George Burns and Gracie Allen will wax poetic during their Hollywood broadcast tonight, from 7:30 to 8 p. m., over the KFI NBC-Red network. Remembering that their program falls on St. Valentine's day, Gracie will read George her original Valentine poem.

George Burns, John Conte, Ray Noble and Tony Martin will enter into the spirit of the day. In addition to her poem, Gracie will introduce "You're a Natural" from "College Swing." Tony Martin, singing star, and Ray Noble's orchestra, will be heard during the musical program.

● Judge Val D. Lester of Orange will be the local speaker on tonight's safety compaign broadcast from KVOE at 7 o'clock, the sixth in the regular Monday night series being made under the auspices of the B. P. O. E. And address by Charles Spencer Hart, grand exalted ruler, and music by the Elks' band and chanters will be features of the presentation.

● Fibber McGee, that master of all trades heard each Monday night over NBC-Red network, entered a new field in real life this week when he assumed the management of Milt Aron, promising young Chicago wealterweight boxer.

In announcing the purchase of Aron's contract from Irving Schoenwald, Jim Jordan, who plays Fibber on the air, said that boxing had long been one of his main interests. Listen tonight, from KFI at 9.

● A vivid explanation of the policies of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, and a discussion of comradeship, will be given at 7:15 tonight on KVOE by B. R. Green, editor of the "Veterans Review," official organ of the V. F. W., second district, comprising Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties; the third district of Los Angeles county and the department of Arizona. This will be the fifth of the V. F. W. broadcasts.

● Taking a privileged part in National Defense Week, Feb. 12 to 22, KVOE will cooperate with the Orange County chapter, Reserve Officers association, to present four broadcasts by Col. H. C. Jackson, chairman of the National Defense Week committee. The first broadcast will be made tonight at 8 o'clock, to be followed by other broadcasts Wednesday, Friday and next Monday night.

● "White Fires" program widens its radio canvas in its next broadcast to include incidents in the lives of great artists as well as poets. For his story tonight, from 10:15 to 10:45 p. m. PST over KNX and stations of the Columbia Pacific network, Jon Slott has chosen as his subject, Leonardo da Vinci, poet, painter, sculptor and engineer.

● Romantic songs, in keeping with Valentine day, will be featured by Carlton Kelsey and his soloist, Warren White, when "Melodic Musings" is aired via KVOE and the Don Lee network tonight at 8:45.

Musical favorites to be heard during the musical quarter-hour include "One Alone," from "Desert Song"; "You Took the Words Right Out of My Heart"; "Why Do I Love You?" and "Can't Help Lovin' That Man of Mine."

● "The Lone Ranger," who usually works unaided, calls upon the assistance of a Mexican ranchero in using Mexican cattle to clean out what he terms "human rattlesnakes," as learned during the exciting episode to be heard on KVOE and the nation-wide Mutual network tonight at 7:30.

● Another trail blazer of musical innovation comes to the airlanes in Mutual's pianist - conductor - composer, Morton Gould, whose half-hour of "styled" music will be heard on KVOE this evening at 5 o'clock.

We cannot be responsible for last-minute changes made by the broadcasting stations.

MOTHERS ENJOY INFORMAL AFTERNOON

With an afternoon opening with a 1 o'clock luncheon, followed by games, planned for their guests, the DeMolay Mother's circle entertained about two dozen members of local DeMolay boys on Friday.

The tables had been arranged with a Valentine motif, and the refreshments carried out the same theme in the other appointments. In the afternoon, the guests adjourned to the Masonic Temple's lounge for bridge and sewing.

Mrs. John Birt and Mrs. Jake Bergsetter won high and low prizes in auction, and Mrs. Hardy and Mrs. Herbert Alleman took high and low in contract.

In charge of arrangements for the party were Mrs. John Luxembourger and Mrs. Louis McGowan, bridge prizes; Mrs. E. F. Gaebe, sewing. The members of the circle presented Mrs. Clyde Files, retiring president, with a lovely potted plant as a past president's gift.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN MEET

Estella Daniels Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church held a dinner and recognition service for new members Thursday night at which more than 100 were present. The program dealt with Africa with Mrs. A. B. Wyatt as guest speaker. Several vocal numbers were sung by a group from the Tustin Colored Second Baptist church.

Mrs. R. E. Carswell addressed the new members while Mrs. L. R. Sutherland gave greetings from the Orange county district. Mrs. C. F. Carpenter, synodical treasurer, was present as were Mrs. M. E. Youel, president of the Woman's Missionary society, Mrs. Edith Osborne, head of the World Friendship group, Mrs. Earl Vite of the Lightbearers group, and Mrs. Edna Bichan Davis, head of the Westminster Guild.

Mrs. Alfred Gray gave the devotional for the evening and a song composed by Virgil Tidball was sung and dedicated to two missionaries, Grace Rowley in China and Estella Daniels in Chile. Miss Lulu Ott was program chairman of the affair.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD.—Unreel parade: Mr. Moto has rushed into the breach left by the uncertain status of Mr. Chan. . . . As soon as 20th Century-Fox and Warner Oland hit a snag, Peter Lorre got word that he would make four Mr. Moto's instead of three this year. . . . Studio would be hard hit by a cessation of the Charles Chans, which have been kicking in a profit of a million and a quarter a year . . . Mr. Moto has not done so well, but there are hopes.

True and fitting: Harry Loud works in Metro's advertising department. . . . Dolly Tree is never up one for a dress design. . . . Bob Burns seldom does. . . . Isabel is a Jewell. . . . Harry Peel peels the RKO bankroll to meet the payroll. . . . But Jane Withers blooms, and the Lanes, who are not long, have plenty of turnings, meaning curves.

PROFESSIONAL KNIFING

Gloria Stuart seems likely to make antiques pay. Gloria moved out of her ner big house into Anita Louise's smaller one, motivated by a desire to have the baby's nursery close to her instead of half a league away. She furnished the little house with antiques, stored the rest of her collection but not for long. . . . Bought another small house, furnished it with the stored pieces, and has rented it to discriminating tenants who appreciate an antique when they sit on one.

Plans to buy more antiques, and more houses to put them in—and to rent.

Jane Withers, since "Gypsy," has become a dangerous but proficient knife - thrower. . . . Steve Clemento, the movies' professional stiletto-hurler, who can just miss you at 50 paces, taught her during making of the film. . . . Steve's working up a vaudeville act in which he will throw a kitchen stove. . . . Seeing Steve working out inspired a sideline cynic to observe: "Can you imagine Hollywood needing a PROFESSIONAL knife-thrower!"

PATTERN 9625

If you have "curves" to conceal or "angles" you'd like filled out, here's just the style for you . . . a jacket frock, from pattern 9625 Simple, smart and ready to take you anywhere! Every detail of this easy-to-sew style is designed to flatter graciously and completely. In the dress, note the way the collar falls into soft jabots and how smartly the yoke and full sleeves are cut in one piece. And see what becoming lines are achieved by the height-adding center panel. As to the tuxedo jacket it falls in straight tailored lines becoming to all. Choose gay prints if you are slender, and small monotones if you want to look slimmer. Complete diagramed Marian Martin sew chart included.

Pattern 926 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 6⅛ yards 39-inch fabric.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and style number.

Martian Martin's New Spring Pattern Book is ready for you . . . order it today! Brimful of New fashion thrills! . . career clothes, party clothes, everyday clothes, lovely graduation styles . . . and a glorious trousseau for the Spring Bride . . . plenty of things for everyone from baby to grandmother. All easy-to-follow patterns that make home sewing a delight. Order today. Price of book 15 cents. Price of pattern 15 cents. Book and pattern together 25 cents.

About Folks

News of Your Family and Journal Welcomes It. Telephone 3600.

Miss Patricia "Pat" Jordan, who returned home from freshman activities at Stanford university for a brief week-end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Jordan, 2006 Victoria drive, left Sunday to resume routine duties. She spent much of her time while in Santa Ana with Miss Phyllis Koglar of Orange, Santa Ana Junior college student.

Custodian Charles Milner at jaysee took his niece Miss Jane Campbell, a new student at the college, on a tour of the fish markets and canning buildings Sunday afternoon at San Pedro. Miss Campbell also viewed for the first time docking ships and foreign boats.

Miss Virginia Sheppard, Miss Jean McDonald, Miss Polly Angne, Bud Knoff, and Bill and Dave Sheppard formed a party of former and present Santa Ana Junior college students who climbed Saddle Back Sunday.

Attracting a group of jaysee students Friday evening at Los Angeles was the Stanford-U. S. C. and Don-U. S. C. frosh basketball game in the auditorium. Those attending in one party were Pete Kotlar, Bill Wilson and Walter Opp.

Tom Hudspeth, head of the student weather bureau at Santa Ana Junior college, spent the week-end working on his amateur radio sending and receiving set. He intends to enter the annual distance contest in March, which means contacting foreign stations. Hudspeth has already reached 78 different stations.

Mrs. Ethel Stockton, 508 South Bristol street, spent part of the week-end in Los Angeles to begin celebrating her birthday which is today.

BOOK CLUB HOSTESSED BY MRS. FRANDSON

Mrs. E. C. Frandson was a charming hostess this week as she entertained the Friday Book club in her home, 2003 North Ross street, last evening. Mrs. R. I. Matthews reviewed Sinclair Lewis' new book, "Prodigal Parents," in an interesting way.

The usual roll call, with members responding with reports of the best book read during the month, and a discussion of the review, followed. The hostess served refreshments at the conclusion of the evening.

All the members were present, including Mrs. A. H. Theal, Mrs. John Bower, Mrs. Luella Blackburn, Mrs. Fred Earel, Mrs. E. D. Froeschle, Mrs. Clarence Bond, Mrs. W. A. Davidson, Mrs. H. C. Maxwell, Mrs. R. I. Matthews, and the hostess.

SURREALIST THIEF

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—A burglar who entered the Putzel galleries here liked ultra-modern art. He passed up a $10,000 Corot and other valuable works to make way with several surrealist canvases.

New Zealand has the highest per capita foreign trade in the world.

JAYSEE MAN IS COMPLIMENTED

Saturday evening saw a gay surprise party given in the comfortable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Whitney, 1004 North Baker street, when they entertained to compliment their nephew, Delmont Emerson. The honor guest, whose birthday anniversary it was, is attending junior college here and is a resident of Island Falls, Me.

Present for the delicious dinner served by the Whitneys were Miss Alice Wilkinson, Miss Mary Woodcock, Miss Mary Malcolm, Floyd Eilers, Warren Hall and Delmont Emerson.

Happy Birthday

MRS. E. BEAMER, 1314 Spurgeon street.

DORAL KINGREY, 316 Beverly street.

MRS. ETHEL STOCKTON, 508 South Bristol street.

JOE USTARIZ, Santa Ana.

ARTHUR NOBO, West Second street.

FINLEYS ARE HOSTS TO PRO BONO CLASS

Pro Bono class of the United Presbyterian church met at the home of Col. and Mrs. S. H. Finley of East Fourth street Friday night for a short business meeting followed by a social. Mrs. C. F. Millen presided at a business meeting while Mrs. E. C. Luken had charge of the program and Mrs. T. L. Warren planned refreshments. Games were played during the evening.

Present were Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Heemstra, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Johnson and their house guest Miss Martha Moncingo of Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Luken, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Eisele, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Galloway, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Millen and the Mesdames Mary Herring, Edna Stevenson, Minnie Cook, E. H. Prince, A. C. Hasenjaeger, William Martin, and Miss Laura Gibson and guests Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Strain of Iowa.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Colorful costumes will be worn tomorrow afternoon by members of the Woman's club of Santa Ana for their annual patriotic silver tea, to be held in Veterans' hall at 2 p. m. There will be a program in the afternoon, preceded by an executive board meeting at 1:30 p. m. All members are asked to come in costume.

UNDEFEATED GOLFERS . . .

Allan Robertson was considered the best golfer of his time. He started playing when he was 18 years old, and continued until his death at the age of 44. He was never beaten. In 1857, two years before his death, he played a 79 with feather golf balls. Robertson did not approve the then fangled gutta ball. He was a producer of feather balls, and in one year turned out 2456.

FISH ROUNDUPS . . .

Round-ups of blackfish are not entirely unlike cattle round-ups. The fish are hurded up on the beach where they are killed. They have been caught in this manner particularly on Cape Cod.

The fish, ranging from 8 to 22 feet in length, are attracted to the shore by squid on which they feed. Fishermen then surround them by boats, and drive them inland until they are stranded on the beach. One of the greatest catches of blackfish in this manner was made in 1884 when 1500 were driven up on land and killed. Catches of blackfish in this manner are becoming very rare.

The House of Tudor, which ruled England throughout the 16th century, was founded by Owen Tudor, a Welshman, who married Catherine of France, the widow of Henry V of England.

"DESIGN FOR LIVING"

From Time Immemorial man has had to struggle for existence. The bulwark of all defense has been home. The Eskimo's hut is his protection from devastating Alaskan months, and the nobleman's castle has always been a fortress. Our American home is our guarantee of safety . . . not especially from outside encroachments nor bitter weather, but for normal, healthy living.

Happy home life is reflected in our daily activities. There's a glow of pride in being the "master of our castle," even though that castle be a humble, little home.

For Protection, for Comfort, for Happiness, own a home of your own . . . It's surprising how easy it is to purchase a home, with a moderate down payment and convenient monthly installments through the medium of the Classified Ads of The Evening Journal and your "REALTOR."

Just placed in Orange Co. in good location, a number of coin operated automatic electric popcorn machines that the owner is obliged to sell due to the fact that he has more territory than he can handle. This is a very profitable business, being pleasant and easy to operate. If you are responsible and can show him you are financially able to handle this kind of a business, he will permit you to verify the amount of business each location is doing and you will agree that this is the best investment you ever heard of.

SPANISH VOLUNTEER

Mrs. Robert Merriman, personnel director of the Abraham Lincoln brigade of American volunteers fighting for the loyalists in Spain, returned home from service on two fronts. Her husband is the brigade's chief of staff.

SEIZED AS COMMUNIST

Baroness Shizue Ishimoto, who lectured in the U. S., was one of 370 arrested in Japan in a series of raids. Tokyo police charged those arrested had a hand in a communist plot against the government. She was later released.

FORBIDDEN CITY'S VISITOR

Mrs. Suydam Cutting returned to New York from Tibet, the first American woman ever to see this remote Himalayan nation. With her husband, she spent 16 days in Lhasa, Tibet's capital, from which all foreigners ordinarily are barred.

PREFERS FREEDOM

Martha Dodd, daughter of William E. Dodd, who recently resigned as U. S. ambassador to Germany, returned to New York. She was, she said, "very glad to be back in America, because it is a free country."

Maybe the Fee Could Be Cut

There's a story going around that local music groups are getting plenty burned up at the school board over the $50 fee which the board is said to soak them for staging a concert at the high school auditorium.

Our informant advises that the Cecilian Singers already have taken umbrage at the high tariff, and have betaken themselves to Orange Union High school auditorium were the toll is considerably less, if there is any at all.

Next thing you know, the Cantando club, with its membership of 65 worthy taxpayers, will get irate (if it hasn't already) and join the exodus.

The Cantando singers, at the present writing, have plunked down 50 bucks for use of the Santa Ana auditorium tomorrow night, but—if we are correctly informed—they aren't too happy over the situation.

Assuming that the above reports are true, it does seem like a delicate point of civic pride and progress is involved.

Why wouldn't it be possible to cut the fee for local non-profit civic organizations like the Cecilian Singers and Cantando club to the bare expenses of opening the hall, such as lights, janitor service, etc?

After all, members of those two groups, as well as of many others who might like use of the auditorium, are local taxpayers and the money used to erect the building came out of their pockets.

Speaker here from Los Angeles says Orange county is the land of "loot, lottery and lemons." Now that he has gone home, can we assume that the local lemon population is down at least one?

Here's One for the Admirals

This is National Defense week, but even if it spoils some admiral's fun, we are going to have our say about the crazy naval building race in which this queer world seems about to engage.

There has been a closed season on increased size of the big battle-wagons since the naval conference in Washington in 1922. England completed the 42,000-ton battleship Hood in 1920, but ships built since 1922 have been limited to 35,000 tons by agreement.

The polite inquiries of America, England and France concerning Japan's rumored upturn in battleship sizes means that if, despite official and unofficial denials, Japan has actually gone over the 35,000-ton limit, all size limitations will be removed by the other naval powers and the "ideal" of some of the world's leading naval designers will be unrestricted.

One such designer has already committed himself to a 57,000-ton battleship. There is no construction barrier in the way of fighting ships ranging up to 70,000 or even 100,000 tons, and armed with guns 18 inches and even 24 inches in caliber. Cost has been the chief deterrent.

A world which has such great need for the products of its wealth, brains and constructive capacities in other fields had better be doing some concentrated hoping, thinking, planning and talking against an unrestricted world armament race which would impoverish even the richest nations and bankrupt those less than rich.

Miners at Neath, Wales, are in sitdown strike two miles underground. It ought to be a real quiet sitdown.

Snow White Coming in May

It has been pretty tough lately explaining to ourselves why we haven't written anything about "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," like all the big league newspaper writers, instead of fooling with such things as federal housing, better roads for Santa Ana and a new junior college.

So finally we buttonholed George King, local movie executive, and asked when Santa Ana audiences will get to see the Disney blonde here at home in place of driving to Los Angeles.

Mr. King explained that the opus, which is showing nowhere else but New York and Miami Beach, is a road show; and that therefore, according to an industry ruling, can't come to Santa Ana until 60 days after it has closed the run in Los Angeles.

Since this gigantic-colossal epic probably won't close in Los Angeles for four more weeks, the movie-goers here have only about 13 weeks left before Snow White and Dopey, the dwarf, come to town—or until May 15.

Snores Begin at 30

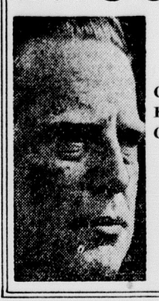

If you are over 30 years old, you probably snore occasionally or habitually, says Margaret McEarherm of New York, scientist and what you might call student of snorology.

However, unless your wife—or husband—makes some bitter complaint, you probably stoutly deny you snore, because, she says, one out of 10 snorers knows he saws wood through the night.

Which, we might add, is lucky—for if anything could be worse than hearing someone else snore, it would be hearing yourself practicing the noisy art of midnight!

Miss McEarherm having brought up the subject, it is up to some bright composer to revise the song of a few years ago, "I Wonder How I Look When I'm Asleep." It might better be written as "I Wonder How I Sound When I'm Asleep."

Chicago's Embezzlement Charge

By Westbrook Pegler

CHICAGO, (UP).—Many an earnest and learned brow has puckered in solemn study of the state of mind which is Chicago and failed to express the political philosophy of the people as well as Frank Zintak stated it during his trial on a charge of embezzling $10,500 of public funds.

Mr. Zintak is a typical Chicago public official, a minor politician who became clerk of the superior court.

Question: "Whose check was that?"

Answer (by Mr. Zintak): "That's what I say if you would only let this go until tomorrow there would be nothing to it, because here's the idea, even if it is on record, you are stirring up something that probably will be worse in the political line than anything, because I represent the largest group of people in Chicago.

"They have all the faith in the world in me for things I done squarely, because there was not anything we done in politics that we did not do it in accord with what those people wished. Some of the people may think there shouldn't be something like groups, but there will be Polish groups and maybe others as long as we exist, for the simple reason that fraternal organizations they encourage youth to belong to them, and the only way they can do that is by keeping that spirit up, because they are insurance groups and they would diminish if they did not."

NO ILL WILL

Mr. Zintak was vindicated and made restitution, and public opinion has held him blameless, because the community was absolutely convinced by the defense that he did not take the money for himself, but gave it to charities and advised it to other politicians, including at least one judge. Afterward there was a bit of scandal over the fact that some of the jurors, when they were taken out for the air in night in custody of court officers, were entertained in night clubs, where the attractions included liquor, dancing and slot machines.

But the community bears Mr. Zintak no ill will, and his conduct in a position of public trust is not popularly deplored, because the morality and mentality of the city as a whole are the morality and mentality of Mr. Zintak. He is not only typical of the public service but typical of the city as well. He is Mr. Chicago himself, and he doubtless would have been stunned by a verdict of guilty—the more so after the vindication of Governor Len Small, who organized a dummy bank to facilitate his retention of the interest on public funds intrusted to him, and of Robert M. Sweitzer, the country clerk who admitted a shortage of $350,000.

AMOUNT OF INTEREST

The amount of interest involved in Governor Small's case was estimated at $1,500,000, and in the case of Mr. Sweitzer the shortage was placed at $414,000 by the prosecution.

Mr. Sweitzer's defense was that it would have been a compromise with honor to turn back to his successor a dollar more or a dollar less than the exact amount due and that the accounting by which the prosecution arrived at the figure of $414,000 was inexact. This inexactness was attributed to the confused condition of his books, and the jury returned Mr. Sweitzer to his loved ones and friends unsullied of honor on this ground and the representation of his counsel that the law was old and archaic, notwithstanding the state's rejoinder that the law against stealing went back to the tablets of Sinai.

JURY INSTRUCTED

The judge instructed the jury that a retiring county clerk by law must surrender to his successor all books and money and all interest fees of the office, but the jury held with Mr. Sweitzer that he could not possibly turn over the money if there was doubt as to the amount, and accepted his own declaration that he would make restitution as soon as the amount was fixed compatibly with his honor. He is still willing to do this, but the amount has not yet been fixed to his satisfaction.

The case, therefore, has been put away in the dead file and the envelope in the newspaper morgues along with those of Governor Small and Mr. Zintak, whose quaint and somewhat incoherent soliloquy precisely expressed the people's sentiments on government and the morality and responsibility of public officials.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

In talk with liberals Roosevelt seemed tired of goading congress; wants it to do its own work on wage-hour, farm, relief, tax acts; unworried by WPA limitation; wants self-liquidating public works; farm, tax bills "compromises"—delegates didn't put FDR on spot.

WASHINGTON.—The man who presented the unemployment problem to Roosevelt during his conference with the 31 liberal congressmen was H. Jerry Voorhis, serious-minded, 35-year-old Phi Beta Kappa from California. He, in turn, was introduced to the President by Kent Keller, violin-playing orator from Illinois, who boomed:

"You probably don't know Jerry Voorhis now, Mr. President, but you will hear of him before he's much older."

"Oh, I know Mr. Voorhis very well," Roosevelt replied with a broad grin; "I always call him Jerry."

The California congressman's unemployment plan, however, did not greatly impress the President. Voorhis wanted the government to pledge a job to every man who wants one, appropriating enough money to pay for the program regardless of cost. Business, he contended, would be eager to absorb the jobless in order to avoid the taxation necessary to finance the government program.

MAVERICK SPEAKS

After Voorhis finished, having touched no receptive cord with Roosevelt, Maury Maverick of Texas, who acted as general spokesman, said: "Now, Mr. President, we come to the question of relief, WPA and Mr. Woodrum."

He was referring to Representative Clifton Woodrum of Virginia, who forced through an amendment last year requiring WPA to spend its money over a 12-month period.

Roosevelt did not seem greatly worried about the relief situation, remarked that the Woodrum amendment makes the apportionment of WPA funds more difficult "but not impossible."

PUBLIC WORKS

When the question of public works was raised, the President emphasized the need of self-liquidating projects which would not increase public debt, particularly mentioning toll roads and bridges, which he said paid for themselves. Asked about building schools as public works projects, he was noncommittal.

At this point he took a crack at Maury Maverick, wounded war veteran who has been opposing his big navy program. Discussing the durability of public works projects, he shot this one at Maverick:

"And airplanes deteriorate more rapidly than battleships."

Turning to the farm bill, the liberals were unanimous and emphatic in their opposition. Sam Massingale, soft-spoken but frank congressman from Oklahoma, told the President he was poorly advised on his farm legislation, and Edward Eicher of Iowa added that some liberals would vote for the present bill because it is "ineffectual and harmless and at least won't do any damage."

"The farm bill," Roosevelt replied, "does not represent everything the department of agriculture would like, but I think it is a step in the right direction."

COPELAND RAPPED

When the delegation began to outline its tax ideas, the President remarked: "I'm glad you have a plan for collecting taxes. I know one senator who votes for all appropriation bills but votes against all the tax bills." (This was aimed at Senator Copeland of New York.)

Maverick and McFarlane of Texas, speaking for the delegation, warned that the new tax bill took the heart out of the undistributed profits tax and would catch the treasury with a deficit of two or three hundred million next year.

In reply, the President pointed out that there were extremists on both sides, such as Treadway of Massachusets, who wanted to repeal the whole tax bill; and the liberals, who wanted to keep the undistributed profit tax intact. He said the proposed new bill represented a compromise, and a compromise was what congress seemed to want.

LOVE FEAST

Some of the cockier members of the delegation ballyhooed the meeting in advance as a move to put the President on the spot, ask him whether he was still a liberal or was he getting soft. Nothing of his kind happened, however.

"We want you to know that we appreciate the difficulties you have had," said Michael Bradley of Philadelphia, "but you can count on our support."

The meeting came to no definite conclusion except to clear the air and give the impression that Roosevelt was tired of goading congress and expected congress to do its own work.

Torn between the pressure from pacifist elements and the sinister international situation, a lot of congressmen are in a tough spot regarding the big navy program. None more so than Representative William B. Umstead of North Carolina.

An overseas war veteran and not a big navy man, Umstead is chairman of the navy appropriation subcommittee which handles the bill for the huge construction program.

PRESIDENT TO GET FREE RIDE ON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Next week Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen will hand the Brass Ring to the most spectacular of all riders on The Washington Merry-Go-Round — to Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

The sketch of the President will appear in this space next Wednesday.

It promises to be the liveliest of all the lively stories that have appeared in the famous Brass Ring series. Be sure to be on hand for President Roosevelt's free ride.

A small, weak-looking man had applied to the foreman of a stevedore gang for a job. He was insistent, so finally the foreman put him to work loading 300-pound anvils in the hold of the ship.

All went well for a while but suddenly a splash was heard and somebody cried for help. Running to the gangplank the foreman looked over the side and saw the little man he had hired bobbing up and down in the water.

"Sure," came the reply. "I can swim all right but if you don't throw me a rope I'll have to drop this anvil."

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

SUBCONSCIOUS MIND

To the Editor: Colbeck is still walking in the dark, in that subconscious mind. He has never explained to the public, just what he means by "subconscious" mind. Let me explain just what that word means! It is one who is walking in his sleep, in the night time, and knoweth not whither he goeth!

He writes as follows: "We do not assault the Bible for destructive reasons—Man is controlled by his subconscious mind, and before we can regenerate society, we must liberate the mind from religious kinks." That is very nice! "We do not assault the Bible for destructive reasons." That is like a man plunging a knife into his fellow man, but not for destructive reasons! Colbeck in his subconscious mind, is walking in the dark, and is blind. "If the blind lead the blind, they shall all fall into the ditch together." Let us again quote Colbeck:

"We must not forget the apostles were influenced by Greek mythology in their writings. The prophetic outlook of Aristotle was recorded by Peter as the word of God."

I would be justified in calling Colbeck the champion liar of the world! But of course I will not do so! But will leave that for the public to decide. Why does he make statements without any proof whatsoever? Is Colbeck the only wise man in the world?

There are tens of thousands of men in the world, who are just as wise, and they have not discovered that the apostles were influenced by Greek mythology, and taught it for the word of God! If the apostles were influenced by the same, for the apostles taught nothing, save the words of Jesus, and Him crucified! "Being born again by the word of God, which liveth and abideth forever." 1 Peter 1:23. "Then said Jesus unto the twelve. Will ye also go away? Then Simon Peter answered him. Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life." John 6:67-68. What does this prove? It proves that Peter put his faith in Jesus and preached only the words of Jesus! The words of Aristotle were as foreign to Peter as the words of Satan himself!

Jesus said to his disciples: "I will pray the Father, and he shall send you another comforter—even the spirit of truth—and he shall guide you into all truth, and shew you things to come." John 14:17. 15:26. This is how the disciples were guided, and not by Greek mythology, or any heathen writer!

What Other Editors Say

OLD STORY

The scheme for widows' pensions backed by American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars follows a familiar pattern. The bill in its present form provides that a widow, to be eligible for a pension, must have married a veteran prior to 1931—but not, you observe, prior to the armistice of Nov. 11, 1918.

At last reports we were still paying pensons to two windows of veterans of the war of 1812. The last engagement of that war was the battle of New Orleans, fought Jan. 8, 1815, which is 123 years ago. How does it happen that we are still paying off widows of veterans of that conflict? Through just such a law as the one proposed. The date of 1931 will not last, of course. Eventually the law will be amended. In fact, there is no apparent reason why 1931 should have been selected, anyhow. If a woman was not the soldier's wife while he fought in the war, what difference does it make when she married him?

Consider the hypothetical case of a boy who was 18—the lower limit of military age—and in the service at the time of the armistice. Suppose that veteran lives to be 90 and then marries a girl of 15, who also lives to be 90. In that case, she will be drawing a widow's pension in the year 2065, or 147 years after the end of the conflict. The thing may be improbable, but it isn't impossible, for pensioners notoriously live long.—Baltimore Evening Sun.

I guess maybe it's better this is a new country out here, but people seem to be kinda restless. They want'a keep movin' around all the time and don't stay with one job very long like they do down home.

have to be so dad-gasted mealy-mouthed even when it's nobody's business. Why should I have to explain to people who don't give a hoot? I've known a fellow with a wart on his nose for 30 years and not once has he offered an explanation. But if I had it, I'd have to carry along a set of blue prints.

But I'm different. No back-bone. Just a slaver-mouthed groveler. No wonder they cuff me around. If I had any sense I'd crawl back under the porch and stay there. Always in people's way, bowing and making excuses for living. What good am I to the world? I can't even stretch out for the night without some low skulking thing sneaking up and socking me in the peeper or something. Eurreka! That gives me an idea for bang up alibi. Also I can make myself something of a hero.

Fierce fight with a burglar in early dawn! There he was—make out I'm telling the dinner crowd now—silhouetted against the window in the light of the moon. I might make that "frost-clear moon" to make it sound more literary. Anyway, there he was, his face masked, coat collar turned up. With a bound I leaped from bed and was on him, swaying this way and that, upsetting bric-a-brac, tearing down portieres and gripping the hand that held a blue steeled 44. Once I felt a touch of cold steel at my temple and round and round we swung—we seem to be waltzing—until I got the pistol out of range. Finally with a mighty heave, I threw him to the floor, sat on his chest until the police came. Then dusting off my hands lightly, said: "Officer, here's your man!"

That sounds pretty good at that. All except explaining the shiner. I failed to do that. I know. In the struggle I crashed the edge of a door but it was nothing—business of flicking at raveling off the coat lapel!—a mere nothing. All that story lacks is a bit of love interest and it would be o. k. for Harry Burton.

Let's take a squint at the eye again. For the goodness sake, it seems to be clearing up. Maybe just too much sleep after all. I've a notion to swat myself in the glimmer anyway. Isn't that life, the cheat? No sooner do I put myself on a pedestal than somebody knocks me off. Now I'll go to the dinner and be only my poky self—sitting around like a bump on a log, watching like a hawk to see which is the right fork or spoon and getting grease dabs on my new white vest.

Yes sir, all that black eye turned out to be was the makings of a stye. How do you like that—a hero with a stye? Only Little Lord Fauntleroys have them. Pardon me madam, but I won't be able to have desert; I must hurry home and put a milk poultice on my peeper. Just when I might be turning loose some of my charm on a visiting countess, I will be sitting up with a stye. Well, one thing is certain—there's always the river!

IT'S ODD

But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

NEW YORK.—It's only a little more than a year since a nationally known physician was cut off the air for using the correct name of what Americans for generations had called a "social disease."

What has happened since in frank explanation of this disease is another sign of fast-changing times.

The suggestion is credited to Einar Lyngklip, accountant of the Edison system in New York. Lyngklip originated a Christmas seal for the 1937-38 season which bore the characters SOS. One of the S's stood for the once unmentionable social disease.
